

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

JUL 11 1924

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE.

The one hundred and twenty-sixth General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts convened at the State House in Boston on the first Wednesday in January, being the fourth day thereof, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and five, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and twenty-ninth.

General Court convened.

And the members-elect of the House of Representatives, having assembled in the Representatives' Chamber, were called to order at two minutes past eleven o'clock A.M. by Hon. James Sidney Allen of Brockton, the eldest senior member-elect present.

House called to order.

By request of the presiding officer prayer was offered by Reverend Frank A. Warfield, D.D., of Milford.

On motion of Mr. Cole of Andover, —

Ordered, That a committee of eight be appointed to inform the Secretary of the Commonwealth that the House has been called to order.

Secretary informed that the House has been called to order.

Mr. Cole and Messrs. Woodhead of North Adams, Mitchell of Marlborough, Peloquin of Fall River, Morse of Haverhill, Stowe of Springfield, Knowlton of Gardner and Quinlan of Boston were appointed the committee.

Mr. Cole, for the committee, afterwards reported that they had attended to the duty assigned them, and that the Secretary was pleased to transmit to the House a list of all persons returned as representatives, with the original certificates of their election, which had been returned to his office.

On motion of Mr. Perry of Beverly, —

Ordered, That the Clerk call the roll of the House to ascertain if a quorum is present.

Roll call.

The roll was called, and, two hundred and eighteen members having answered to their names, the Chair declared a quorum present.

On motion of Mr. Warren of Newton, —

Governor notified that a quorum of the House is present.

Ordered, That a committee of eight be appointed to wait upon His Excellency the Governor and inform him that a quorum of the House is assembled, and that the members are ready to be qualified.

Mr. Warren and Messrs. Norcross of Monson, Hancock of Brockton, Battis of Boston, Hubbard of Gloucester, Brewer of Dalton, Sowle of New Bedford and Scigliano of Boston were appointed the committee.

Mr. Warren, for the committee, afterwards reported that they had attended to the duty assigned them, and that His Excellency would attend forthwith and administer the oaths of office.

Qualification of members.

Soon afterwards His Excellency the Governor, His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, the Executive Council and the Secretary of the Commonwealth came in, and the oaths and affirmations required by the Constitution and the laws were administered by His Excellency to the members present, and subscribed by them; after which His Excellency the Governor, His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, the Council and the Secretary withdrew.

On motion of Mr. Bennett of Boston, — elected.

Ordered, That a committee of eight be appointed to receive, sort and count the votes for Speaker.

Mr. Bennett and Messrs. Seward of Watertown, Thomas J. Grady of Boston, Ames of Orange, Porter of Amesbury, Paull of Taunton, Wheatley of Abington and Lord of Athol were appointed the committee.

Mr. Bennett, for the committee, afterwards reported as follows : —

Whole number of votes,	226
Necessary for a choice,	114
Mark N. Skerrett of Worcester had	1
Martin M. Lomasney of Boston had	2
Frederick S. Deitrick of Cambridge had	4
Louis A. Frothingham of Boston had	219

And Mr. Frothingham having been elected declaration was made accordingly, and the Speaker was conducted to the chair by a committee consisting of Messrs. Taft of Worcester and Luce of Somerville, and spoke as follows : —

FELLOW REPRESENTATIVES : — I thank you most heartily for this honor again conferred upon me, showing as it does your continued confidence in my ability to preside in an impartial manner over your deliberations. Appreciating as I do more fully after a year's experience the responsibilities of this office, I can only say that if this body shows me the same gentlemanly courtesy and consideration that it did during the last session, I have nothing disagreeable to look forward to.

Legislation should be taken seriously. The law-making power is a most important and far-reaching one, and we who are invested with this power need constantly to be on our guard in order that we may not abuse it. When in doubt as to the merits of a question, it is often wiser to allow the matter to wait for another General Court to act upon. Love of the law should keep step with the love of liberty.

My burden of appointing committees is an arduous one. I shall undoubtedly make mistakes. Whatever committee you are placed upon, however, it should make no difference as to your desire to serve the Commonwealth. That is our one consideration, and a member can do that, and do it well, even if on no committee at all.

We can serve her best this year by practising the most rigid economy consistent with the needs of the Commonwealth, by enacting only such laws as are necessary, and by adjourning early. A short session is always looked forward to. Last year we had before us for consideration 1,427 matters in the shape of bills or resolves. The blue book, however, was smaller than it has been in any year since 1893. That is a subject for congratulation.

Last year I suggested at the opening of the session shortening the time for the introduction of business. The General Court regarded the matter favorably, and a rule was passed reducing the time from the last of January to the third Saturday of that month. I think that the time may be still further curtailed to advantage. From experience I say without hesitation that the session can be more materially shortened by refusing to suspend rules against the admission of business late, and against postponing matters when they are reached on the calendar, coupled with prompt hearings and reports on measures, than it can be by any change in the rules, unless that change be a very radical one.

Allow me to call your attention to Joint Rule No. 4, which provides that "Joint committees may report by bill, resolve, or otherwise, to either branch, at their discretion, having reference to an equal distribution of business between the two branches." In the past the distribution has been anything but equal. A great majority of matters have been reported first to this branch. In the future I trust that the letter of the rule may be observed, and more matters reported to the other branch, thus making a more equal distribution of business, as the rule requires.

With your permission, also, as there are several committees of this House that are over busy, I shall endeavor this year to distribute matters more generally, thus tending to relieve over-burdened committees, like those of Cities, Judiciary, and some others.

Those of us who are familiar with the laws of other states appreciate that a great number are based upon or actually copied from the statute book of this Commonwealth. Massachusetts has ever been a leader in the great events that have made the history of our country. It is for us to see that she continues to be a model for other states to follow. We have a proud heritage. Let me, in closing, urge you that we keep it ever before us as a shining example and guide for our conduct during this session.

Clerk elected.

On motion of Mr. Grosvenor of Swampscott, —

Ordered, That a committee of eight be appointed to receive, sort and count the votes for Clerk.

Mr. Grosvenor and Messrs. Barnes of Weymouth, Sheehan of Holyoke, Stevens of Malden, Clark of Cambridge, Hannan of Boston, McIntire of Gloucester and Potter of Spencer were appointed the committee.

Mr. Grosvenor, for the committee, afterwards reported as follows : —

Whole number of votes,	226
Necessary for a choice,	114
James W. Kimball of Lynn had	226

And Mr. Kimball, having been elected, was conducted to the Council Chamber by a committee consisting of Messrs. Jackson of Lynn and Thorburn of Marblehead, and having been qualified by taking and subscribing the oaths required, report was made to the House accordingly, and the Clerk entered upon the discharge of his duties.

Notice of
of the Senate.

A message was received from the Senate, by a committee thereof, announcing that that branch had been organized by the election of William F. Dana of Newton as President and Henry D. Coolidge of Concord as Clerk.

On motion of Mr. Ward of Buckland, —

Ordered, That a committee of eight be appointed to inform the Senate that the House has been organized by the election of a Speaker and a Clerk. Senate notified of organization of the House.

Mr. Ward and Messrs. Seiberlich of Boston, Deitrick of Cambridge, Jewett of Worcester, Bearse of Springfield, Tarr of Rockport, Freeman of Quincy and Leonard of Boston were appointed the committee.

Mr. Ward, for the committee, afterwards reported that they had attended to the duty assigned them.

On motion of Mr. Hayes of Lowell, —

Ordered, That a committee of eight be appointed to inform His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council that the House has been organized by the election of a Speaker and a Clerk. Governor and Council notified of organization of the House.

Mr. Hayes and Messrs. Williams of Attleborough, Skerrett of Worcester, Bennett of Saugus, Cook of Fall River, Locklin of Boston, Tanner of Springfield and Sherburne of West Springfield were appointed the committee.

Mr. Hayes, for the committee, afterwards reported that they had attended to the duty assigned them.

A message was received from the Senate, by a committee thereof, announcing that David T. Remington of Somerville had been elected Sergeant-at-Arms on the part of that branch. Election of Sergeant-at-Arms on the part of the Senate.

On motion of Mr. Cushman of Somerville, —

Ordered, That a committee of eight be appointed to receive, sort and count the votes for Sergeant-at-Arms. Sergeant-at-Arms elected.

Mr. Cushman and Messrs. Perry of Beverly, Whitcomb of Holbrook, Dunbar of Hyde Park, Godfrey of Taunton, Paradise of Boston, Parsons of Northampton and Power of Boston were appointed the committee.

Mr. Cushman, for the committee, afterwards reported as follows : —

Necessary for a choice,	100
Marshall Thompson of Boston had	1
Isaac B. F. Allen of Boston had	1
Arthur W. Gavin of Boston had	3
David T. Remington of Somerville had	193

And Mr. Remington was declared elected on the part of the House.

Election of Chaplain.

Mr. Googins of Cambridge moved that Reverend Daniel W. Waldron of Boston be elected Chaplain of the House by acclamation. The motion prevailed, Mr. Waldron was unanimously elected, and declaration was made accordingly.

Seat Declared Vacant.

Mr. Bennett of Boston offered the following resolution:—

Thomas F.
Curley.

Whereas, It appears that at an election held on the 8th day of November, 1904, one Thomas F. Curley was duly elected a representative in the General Court from the Seventeenth Suffolk Representative District; and

Whereas, It further appears that the said Thomas F. Curley was, on the 24th day of September, 1903, found guilty of conspiracy, in the United States District Court for this district—as attested by the certificate of Frank H. Mason, clerk of said court, hereto appended—and was, at the time of the said election, and is now, on the day fixed by the Constitution for the said General Court to assemble, serving a term of imprisonment for said crime; be it therefore Resolved, That the seat in this House of Representatives to which the said Thomas F. Curley was elected be, and the same hereby is, declared vacant.

Mr. Quinn of Boston moved that the resolution (House, No. 2) be referred to a special committee, to be appointed, which motion, after debate, was lost.

The question was put on adopting the resolution, and 157 members voted in the affirmative and 43 in the negative.

Mr. McGrady of Boston moved that the vote be verified by a call of the yeas and nays, which motion was adopted by a vote of 119 to 6.

The Resolutions upon the death of William Claflin (Senate, No. 160) (the title having been changed by the committee on Bills in the Third Reading) were considered; and, after remarks by Messrs. Allen of Brockton and Lowell of Newton, were unanimously adopted, in concurrence, by a rising vote.

They were as follows: —

Resolved, That in the death of William Claflin the Commonwealth mourns the loss of a statesman whose long-continued public service was of the greatest value and whose private life was above reproach. A member of the General Court for many years and finally president of the upper branch, he became lieutenant-governor and subsequently chief executive, to which offices he was re-elected for many successive terms; and for four years he represented the Commonwealth in the Congress of the United States with ability and distinction. He courageously upheld the principle of anti-slavery in a part of the country where the lives of its advocates were in jeopardy, and contributed bountifully of his strength and resources to the upholding of the cause of freedom. He was a personal friend of Lincoln, and, like him, he stood for the equal rights of all mankind. Throughout the entire course of his long life he was impelled by the highest motives of humanity and patriotism. In all public positions he exhibited the same qualities that had brought him success in private enterprises: untiring energy and industry, natural executive capacity, which enabled him to transact business with great rapidity and singular correctness; unusual care and caution before entering upon any undertaking, whereby difficulties were avoided; uncompromising rectitude; and firmness of purpose united with gentleness of spirit. When at length he withdrew from the duties of public office, he lived not unto himself, but transferred his activities to those religious, educational and philanthropic channels, into which his generous nature and broad and liberal spirit led him. His career and example are a stimulus to all who cherish high ideals. Those seeking for true success and enduring fame may well emulate his life, the record of which will be a perpetual ornament upon the pages of our history.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the journals of the two branches, and that an engrossed copy be sent to the family of Mr. Claffin, with the respectful and profound sympathy of the Senate, the House of Representatives and, through them, of the Commonwealth.

Mr. Warren of Newton moved that, as a further mark of respect, the House adjourn, which motion was unanimously adopted by a rising vote; and, accordingly, at twenty-seven minutes before three o'clock, the House adjourned.

The Resolutions relative to the establishment of freer trade relations between the United States and Canada (House, No. 1009) were adopted, and sent up for concurrence, as follows :—

Resolved, That the General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts favors such action by the Congress of the United States as will cause the establishment of freer trade relations between the United States and the Dominion of Canada and between the United States and Newfoundland, as soon as it is possible to secure such relations without injury to American agriculture, American labor or American industries, and without sacrificing the American policy of protection to American industries, under which not only the manufacturing, but also the agricultural and mercantile interests of the state, have largely prospered. The test of protective legislation, however, should not be "is a duty demanded?" but "is a duty needed?"

The General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts approves the action recently taken unanimously by the members of the delegation from this Commonwealth in the Congress of the United States, favoring the readjustment of the tariff at the earliest possible time, and it relies with confidence upon them to do all that may properly be done to protect and advance all the interests of Massachusetts when the work of readjustment shall be undertaken by the national Congress.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the presiding officer of each branch of Congress and to each of the senators and representatives therein from this Commonwealth.

The Resolutions relative to the transfer of the life saving service to the navy department (Senate, No. 231) were adopted, in concurrence, as follows:—

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor:—

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, March 21, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:—

The alarming increase in the State debt, both direct and contingent, and the rapid increase in running expenses, should receive the serious and prompt attention of your honorable bodies.

Message from the Governor,
— state debt.

From the abstract of the report of the Treasurer for the year ending December 31, 1904, we learn that the net "direct" debt of the State,—that is, the debt incurred for State purposes and payable by the Commonwealth at large,—which decreased from over $22,000,000 in 1877 to $3,609,799 in 1893, has since increased to $15,576,595.

The net "contingent" debt, which began in 1889, has increased by leaps and bounds to $58,758,535 in 1904. Although this debt is not payable directly by the Commonwealth, and is incurred for the benefit of certain districts and for certain purposes, and is being met by direct annual tax on the cities and towns to which the Commonwealth has thus temporarily loaned its credit, yet the State is responsible for this debt.

* Fitchburg Railroad securities loan changed in 1901 from contingent to direct debt.

It thus appears that the direct debt of the Commonwealth on December 31, 1904, was $30,809,750, to meet which there was a sinking fund of $15,233,154.89, leaving a net debt of $15,576,595.11. The contingent debt of $64,989,412 is reduced by a sinking fund of $6,230,876.99 to $58,758,535.01. The total funded debt then was $95,799,162; the total sinking funds, $21,464,031.88; and the total net debt, $74,335,130.12.

There is no question but what the assets of the State are more than sufficient to meet its indebtedness; but, on the other hand, would it not be better in the interests of the Commonwealth to stop the increase of the direct debt, as the total indebtedness of the State, including the direct and contingent, exceeds by far the indebtedness of other States?

Including the municipal indebtedness of the cities and towns of the Commonwealth, $195,062,222 on May 1, 1904, and the county debts, $3,221,726 on December 31, 1904, we have in this State a total public indebtedness of $294,093,697, or more than 9 per cent. of the valuation of all the property in the State, — a valuation that is, in many parts of the State, considerably above the market value of property, even in good times.

If we deduct from this amount the total sinking funds, State, county and municipal, namely, $74,867,651, we have net debts of $219,226,047, or more than 6.4 per cent. of the total assessed value of all property in the State.

In 1875 the State adopted as a settled policy the rule that net municipal indebtedness, exclusive of water debt, should not exceed 3 per cent. of the valuation of property; but this limit has now been far exceeded, and our net State and municipal debt already exceeds what has been considered a safe limit, not only in this State but also in other States, as indicated by constitutional and statute law. Moreover, the debt is rapidly increasing.

The annual interest on this net debt is about $7,000,000; the total taxes collected in 1904 for State, county and city or town purposes amounted to $66,748,301; therefore more than one-tenth of all taxes now raised go to pay interest on our State, municipal and other public debts.

The business interests of our Commonwealth, our factories, shops, farms and homes, demand that our tax rate be decreased rather than increased. Unless new sources of revenue are found and utilized, our tax rate for State purposes must soon be double what it was last year.

Instead of continuing to increase debts and interest charges, we should, in my opinion, begin to decrease them. If this Commonwealth is to regain its reputation for conservative financial management, it must not further increase its already enormous debts, but must begin a healthy "pay-as-we-go" plan.

GROWTH OF EXPENDITURES.

How rapidly the expenses of the Commonwealth are increasing is shown by the following figures from the Auditor's last report: —

Thus the estimated expenditures for 1905, even after deducting the unpaid liabilities of 1904, \$700,000, and "deficiencies," \$25,000, are \$9,709,874.55, which is 12 per cent. more than the actual expenditures for 1904, 24 per cent. more than those for 1903, and 41 per cent. more than those for 1901. The very great increase for estimated expenditures for 1905, over actual expenditures for 1904, amounting to \$1,041,828.07, is partly accounted for by the fact that in 1904 no appropriation was made for sinking fund requirements, amounting to \$397,422.63. This one item would have brought the 1904 expenditures up to \$9,065,469.11, and would have reduced the estimate for 1905 to \$9,312,451.92. The 1904 expenditures would then have shown an increase of \$1,234,620.93, or about 16 per cent., over those of 1903; while in 1905, estimates would show an increase of only \$246,982.81, or about $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., over those of 1904.

Other items of expenditure in 1904 were abnormally low, and require explanation. A very noticeable reduction is evident in the expenditures for public buildings charged to revenue. This reduction is still more evident if we go back a few years. The following figures show the expenses for public buildings, paid out of "revenue":—

1898,	502,574 68
1899,	416,511 82
1900,	363,001 95
1901,	269,274 53
1902,	361,188 06
1903,	307,335 51
1904,	90,022 05

Thus the expenditures for "public buildings" in 1904 were over $230,000 below normal, as compared with the years 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903; and over $400,000 below the average for the years 1897, 1898 and 1899.

It appears that previous to 1901 the cost of making all ordinary repairs and improvements and of making additions and enlargements to our public buildings was met by appropriations from the receipts from general revenue. Since 1901, under authority of an act (chapter 471) passed to provide funds for the "construction and enlargement of certain public buildings," and of similar acts passed each year since then, most such expenses have been met from the sale of thirty-year sinking fund bonds. By a most liberal interpretation of the words "construction and enlargement," bonds have been issued under these acts for the purpose of concreting walks, building stone walls, electric light equipments, repairing and furnishing buildings, equipping with machinery, painting buildings, repairing buildings, putting in new heaters, tanks and pumps, making alterations, etc.

Since 1891, $2,175,500 of the "prisons and hospitals loans" bonds have been issued, and the proceeds used for purposes which were formerly met in great part from revenue. This amount averages over half a million dollars a year. Most certainly such expenditures should be paid out of annual revenue. Not only is it unwise and improper, from a business standpoint, to issue bonds to pay for repairing, furnishing and equipping buildings, or for making alterations and improvements the life of which is shorter than that of the bonds, but it is inadvisable, from the standpoint of public policy, not to meet all such expenditures from our annual revenues. We should not ask or expect future generations to pay for what will not exist in their time, and for what is enjoyed wholly by us. Only when new buildings are constructed or when extensive enlargements are made, sufficient to meet requirements for years to come, should bonds be issued and the State debt permanently increased.

I strongly urge a return to the policy and practice that prevailed previous to 1901, when not only enlargements and improvements, but many new buildings, were paid for from our general revenue, and recommend that no further legislation be enacted under which the cost of temporary improvements and repairs may be defrayed by loans.

LAST YEAR'S STATE TAX INSUFFICIENT.

The State tax of last year did not provide sufficient revenue by over $300,000, although the actual receipts exceeded the estimated receipts by more than $340,000, and in addition the sinking fund requirements were not provided for.

In the accounting of the Commonwealth there is an item, entitled "cash on hand January 1," that needs explanation. This is set up as an item of revenue each year. This is misleading, although it is done under a requirement of the law. The balance of cash on hand has nothing to do with "revenue," unless it represents a surplus brought over from the previous year.

In the State accounts, however, the cash balance does not represent a surplus, for there are, on December 31, liabilities against this balance amounting to six hundred thousand or seven hundred thousand dollars. The liabilities consist mainly of December salaries and unpaid bills, which will be charged in January against the balances of appropriations unexpended. It is evident that only the excess of cash above these unpaid liabilities of the old year can be correctly considered a "revenue" item for the new year.

For example, it will be seen, by reference to the Auditor's "Abstract," that the "revenue receipts" include $1,189,842.03 of cash balance January 1, 1905, brought forward from the old year. Against this asset there are estimated liabilities of $700,000, which, instead of being separately stated and offset against the cash balance, are listed among the estimated "expenses" of the new year.

The estimated expenses, as given, $10,434,874.55, include an item which must be deducted before comparisons can be made with the actual expenses of previous years. This item is "unexpended appropriations," $700,000. This item, as already explained, is the estimated liability on December 31, 1904, for unpaid bills, salaries, etc., under appropriations of the previous year. It is properly an offset to the cash on hand of December 31, and should be so designated in the Auditor's report. As stated, at present in the Auditor's report this important item is placed under a sub-title "interest, etc."

After making corrections, the figures should therefore read as follows:—

Estimated revenue receipts for 1905,	$5,547,000 00
Cash surplus for 1904:—
Viz.: Cash balance,	$1,189,842 03

1904 TAX SHOULD HAVE BEEN MUCH HIGHER.

If to this decrease in the surplus cash ($300,000) there be added the requirements for sinking funds, which amounted to $397,422.63, and also the sum required for repairs, renewals, temporary constructions, etc., of public buildings, which was expended from proceeds of loans, amounting to fully $300,000 more, it is evident that the State tax last year should have been $3,500,000, instead of $2,500,000.

Had such a tax been levied and collected last year, then the proper burdens of that year would have been met out of the collections of that year; and the present year, 1905, would have been called upon to meet only its own burdens, viz. : —

Estimated expenses, including sinking fund requirements for the year,	$9,337,451 92*
Provisions for public buildings, repairs, etc.,	300,000 00
	$9,637,451 92

which would have required a State tax for 1905 of about the same amount as was required in 1904, viz., $3,500,000.

As things are, however, it becomes necessary to increase this tax by the last year's sinking funds, unprovided for in the tax levy of 1904 ($397,000), which, even without the additional or extraordinary appropriations, will bring the necessary amount of the State tax this year to about four million dollars, against the insufficient levy of $2,500,000 last year.

* $10,434,874.55, less sinking funds unprovided last year and less unpaid liabilities of last year.

SOME OF THE 1905 INCREASES EXPLAINED.

It will be noted that the large increases are as follows:—

(1) Sinking funds for two years, $727,650.29.

(2) Interest, \$151,081.18, which consists of two components: (a) Receipts of accrued interest on bonds sold for 1905 are unknown; they cannot be estimated and deducted from interest payments. These accrued items in 1904 amounted to \$114,473.49, of which \$49,262.87 were received from a settlement of old accounts with the metropolitan district. (b) Interest on "direct debt," 1905, is estimated at \$858,414, while interest on same paid in 1904 is stated as \$831,414.87, — an increase for 1905 of about \$27,000. The increase of "direct debt" in excess of increase of sinking funds in 1904 was about \$800,000, and interest on this sum at about $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. may account for the \$27,000 mentioned as increase.

(3) The increase from estimate for decennial census, $275,000, explains itself.

(4) Increase in "charitable," $69,596.57, which consists of increase, "State Board of Charity," $29,000; "institutions," $83,000; total, $112,000; decrease, State Board of Insanity, $4,000; net increase, about $108,000; which is accounted for by the $69,000 above, in addition to some $38,000 of miscellaneous payments of last year's charities not included in the estimates for 1905.

The increased expenditure for charitable and reformatory institutions and for agriculture, etc., in 1905 over 1904, and in 1904 over 1903, while very great, are accounted for largely: (1) by the assumption by the State of the care of all the insane; (2) by the great increase in the cost of living, which has increased the cost of maintaining all of our public institutions; (3) by the increase in the number of insane, paupers and criminals, due only in part to increasing population.

(5) The other increases are partially offset by the decreases in "educational" and in "commissions," etc., but it should be noted that there were in 1904 nearly $300,000 of miscellaneous expenses, including items on account of appropriations in 1901 and 1903, whose correlatives, if any, have not been estimated for 1905.

Taking probable requirements of similar nature for 1905, together with extraordinary appropriations which may be made by the Legislature, not estimated in the Auditor's total, it is evident that another half million dollars must be added to the State tax, bringing it to $4,500,000 this year, if all of the running expenses for 1905, as well as the sinking fund deficit for 1904, are to be met out of current revenue and receipts, i.e., out of ordinary receipts of the year, plus surplus from last year and plus the State tax.

Such is the situation that confronts our Commonwealth. It should receive our serious consideration. We should make provisions for adequate revenue with which to meet all running expenses, and should issue bonds and increase the State's indebtedness only as a final resort.

INHERITANCE TAX.

It being reasonably certain that our expenditures will continue to increase faster than our resources, and that the tax levy for State purposes will impose a heavier and heavier burden upon our industries, it is most desirable that we find, if possible, new sources of revenue.

Perhaps the most important and certain new source of revenue available for State purposes is that of an inheritance or legacy tax. A reasonable tax on property passing to the heirs of a deceased person would not burden industry, oppress the tax payer or drive property from this State. If assessed only after making proper exemptions, it constitutes, in my opinion, one of the fairest and least objectionable taxes that can be levied. It is also easy to collect.

In this country 24 States have adopted the inheritance tax since 1890. At present 16 States apply this tax only to collateral heirs, and 14 States also apply it to direct heirs.

An inheritance tax patterned somewhat after that of Wisconsin, but with greater exemptions, and with lower graduated rates, would, in my opinion, not only constitute an almost ideal tax for State purposes, but would enable us to reduce rather than increase the general property tax.

Massachusetts is one of the 16 States that now taxes only collateral inheritances. A 5 per cent. collateral legacy tax last year yielded $562,000 in revenue. This tax is levied on the estate, but only on the excess of $500, which passes. Based upon estimates contained in the report of the Tax Commissioner of 1897, it is probable that a tax averaging 2 per cent. on direct inheritances would yield about $1,000,000 in revenue. Should a general inheritance tax be graduated according to the amounts inherited by heirs, and be made progressive as the relationship of the heir to the deceased diminishes, it ought easily to yield $2,000,000 of revenue, or half of all now raised for State purposes by a general property tax.

The commission appointed in 1896 to "inquire into the expediency of revising and amending the laws of the Commonwealth relating to taxation" were unanimously in favor of no other new tax except that on inheritances, although there was some difference of opinion as to whether the tax should be flat or graduated. The majority report, signed by four out of the five members of the commission, favored a tax of 5 per cent. on direct inheritances. It said, in part:—

A tax on inheritances and successions has the great advantage of using administrative machinery already in existence. The probate courts already supervise the estates passing on death. Some examination of the property takes place in any event. By making that examination somewhat more careful and stringent, an effective collection of the tax can be secured. No declaration is required from any one except the executor or administrator, who is already accountable to the court. . . .

We believe that the community is prepared for this form of taxation, and that public opinion will approve it, — a powerful factor in aid of its efficient collection. Hence, notwithstanding a possibility of some evasion, we are confident that an inheritance tax can be satisfactorily administered and collected.

The burden of such a tax is in most cases borne with comparative ease.

The arguments in favor of a tax on direct inheritances are as much stronger to-day than they were in 1897, as the need of revenue is now greater than it was then.

I strongly recommend the passage of a law taxing direct inheritances, — or, what would perhaps be better, a general inheritance tax law, which would include or supersede our present law taxing only collateral inheritances. Such a tax would constitute one of the principal sources of revenue for the State, and would neither tax our homes nor oppress our industries.

Whereas, Experience has shown that the differential railroad rates charged by the trunk lines on freight from interior points in the United States to the Atlantic seaboard, which were originally intended to equalize through rates by competing railroad and steamship lines from western points to foreign ports, now permit of the establishment and maintenance of lower through rates by way of the ports of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Newport News than by the port of Boston, thus diverting from Boston a large amount of export freight, which, under equal conditions as regards railroad rates, would otherwise come over New England lines, and causing thereby serious injury to the commerce of this Commonwealth; therefore,

Resolved, That the General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts favors the abrogation of these differential railroad freight rates, which discriminate against our principal port as a point of export, and cordially approves the action taken before the Interstate Commerce Commission and elsewhere by citizens of this Commonwealth to secure an equitable adjustment of railroad rates to the end that Boston may be able to secure its fair share of export traffic.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the senators and representatives from this Commonwealth in the Congress of the United States.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, April 13, 1905.

nial Exposition.

On motion of Mr. Freeman of Quincy fifty copies of a Bill to incorporate the Massachusetts Ship Canal Company were ordered printed for the use of the committee on Harbors and Public Lands.

Order.

The consideration of the following order, offered by Mr. Luce of Somerville, was postponed until to-morrow, at the request of that gentleman:—

Opinion of the Attorney General,— acquisition of street railways
by railroad companies.

Ordered, That the Attorney General be requested to transmit to the House of Representatives his opinion in writing in answer to the following questions:—

1. Wherein differ the rights, privileges and duties of the Boston and Maine Railroad Company and the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company in the matter of the purchase of the stocks or bonds of street railway corporations?

2. Your honorable predecessor, in an opinion transmitted to the Senate and House of Representatives March 16, 1894, relating to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, said: "Acting with full knowledge of and acquiescence in the fact that the railroad company it incorporated had already received a similar charter from Connecticut, the legislature of Massachusetts must be presumed to have conceded, by implication, the right to the consolidated corporation to have and exercise such powers as the State of Connecticut, acting upon matters within its exclusive jurisdiction, should grant to it by virtue of its sovereignty; and to reserve to itself the right to exercise exclusive control over the corporation only as to such matters as should be within its exclusive jurisdiction." Do you concur with these views, and in that case do you or do you not think that the direct or indirect acquisition of all or part of the stock of a Massachusetts street railway corporation by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company falls within the jurisdiction of Massachusetts to an extent sufficient to make it illegal in view of the following provision of law? R. L., ch. 111, sec. 77: "No railroad corporation, unless authorized by the General Court or the provisions of the following five sections, shall directly or indirectly subscribe for, take or hold the stock or bonds of or guarantee the bonds or dividends of any other corporation;" etc. If such acquisition is in your opinion illegal, what is the penalty and how may it be enforced?

3. R. L., ch. 111, sec. 62, says: "If a railroad corporation which owns a railroad in this Commonwealth and is consolidated with a corporation in another state which owns a railroad therein increases its capital stock or the capital stock of such consolidated corporation, except as authorized by this chapter, without authority of the General Court, or without such authority extends its line of road, or consolidates with any other corporation, or makes a stock dividend; the charter and franchise of such corporation shall be subject to forfeiture." Your honorable predecessor, in the opinion before quoted, commenting on this provision, said: "The law amounts to nothing more than a declaration of the policy of the State, and it does not pretend to prohibit, much less to make unlawful, the acts of a consolidated corporation done in another state, and under the lawful authority of the legislature of that state." Assuming this to be the case, as far as relates to acts of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company done in Connecticut under the lawful authority of the legislature of that state, what would be the bearing of the law on acts done in either Connecticut or Massachusetts for the purpose of acquiring control of a Massachusetts corporation, such, for instance, as an increase of capital stock to accomplish that purpose directly or indirectly?

4. R. L., ch. 126, sec. 11, says in part: "If a foreign corporation which owns or controls a majority of the capital stock of a domestic street railway corporation issues stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness based upon or secured by the property, franchise or stock of such domestic corporation, unless such issue is authorized by the law of this Commonwealth, the Supreme Judicial Court shall have jurisdiction in equity in its discretion to dissolve such domestic corporation. If it appears to the Attorney General that such issue has been made, he shall institute proceedings for such dissolution and for the proper disposition of the assets of such corporation." It is currently reported that the Consolidated Railway Company of Connecticut, a foreign corporation, owns or controls a majority of the capital stock of one or more Massachusetts street railway companies. If such majority of the capital stock were held by Massachusetts trustees for the benefit of a foreign corporation, would that be tantamount to the "control" meant by the law? Does the section establish clearly that it is the policy of Massachusetts not to permit such control unless it is authorized by law?

Assuming such to be the policy of the Commonwealth, what, if any, change should be made in this section to carry that policy into full effect?

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor : —

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, April 17, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives : —

Message from the Governor,
— new state prison and leper hospital.

In the annual report of the Prison Commissioners attention is called to the crowded condition of the State Prison at Charlestown where the population has exceeded for some time the single cell capacity of the buildings. This crowded condition cannot be materially relieved by transfers or releases. The need of more room is therefore imperative, as the law requires that there shall be as many separate cells as prisoners. To enlarge the cell buildings at Charlestown would involve great and disproportionate expense, and even if an extension of them could be made of sufficient capacity, there would yet seem to be many strong reasons against a further outlay at this place. All the cell buildings, with the exception of the north wing extension and the separate imprisonment buildings, are old and inconveniently arranged. As far as cleanliness is concerned the present buildings are not open to serious objection, because every possible effort is made to keep them in good condition in that respect; but they have nevertheless many limitations as to usefulness.

The restricted area of the prison lot forbids the general employment of prisoners except in a few industries. There is, moreover, considerable annoyance from the proximity of the railroad, and there are many other disturbing causes in the neighborhood. It is the opinion of many persons familiar with the subject, that all the interests concerned would be better served by a change of location than by an enlargement of the old prison.

In modern and well adapted buildings, much more than is now possible could be done to classify the prisoners and give them opportunities for work and instruction. Mechanical employments could still be supplied for those who apparently would be most benefited by that sort of work. On a large tract of land a variety of agricultural pursuits would furnish useful occupations for the prisoners not adapted to other industries. The dictates of humanity would favor a change on behalf of those prisoners who are to be held in continual custody; and a due regard for the public welfare also requires the largest consideration for the health and proper training of those who at varying periods are to complete their terms of imprisonment.

In presenting this subject to the legislature in their annual report, the Prison Commissioners disclaimed any purpose to recommend a new location of the prison if the removal should involve any addition to the state debt. The plan of providing a new prison which has been brought to my attention, and to which I have given careful consideration, does not contemplate any additional taxation. It is proposed that if the land now occupied for prison purposes could be sold at a fair price the proceeds would substantially defray the expenses of erecting a new prison elsewhere. And if there should be any deficiency in the amount, that could be supplied from the prison industries fund.

If the prison is removed it should be placed upon a large tract of land, and should be so situated that as far as possible any annoyance to the citizens would be avoided. With these requirements in view some investigation has been made as to a possible location of a prison if it should be decided to make the removal. Among other suggestions a report has been submitted to me in regard to an island site, to which I invite special attention.

In that report it is urged that the island of Nashawena possesses peculiar advantages as a site for the State Prison. It is substantially unoccupied, and although at one time it was divided into farms of good tillage, it is now practically waste land. In area it is about two thousand acres, being three miles long and one mile wide. It would furnish abundant opportunities for outdoor employment for all the prisoners who would be adapted to that work, or who would be benefited by it, and the buildings could be so arranged as to give all needed facilities for grading and classifying of prisoners. The island is situated about six miles from the nearest point of the mainland, is fourteen miles from New Bedford, and thirteen miles from Woods Hole. As far as water borne freights are concerned it would have a decided advantage in respect to economy over any interior situation on the mainland. It can be reached even in the depth of winter without serious obstacle. It has an abundant water supply, and sewage could be readily discharged into an ocean tide. All its physical features are well adapted to promote economy and convenience of administration. At one point on the island the land rises to an altitude of 140 feet above the sea, and from this point and some others of lesser height, the whole island could easily be overlooked. It should be noted especially that if this island were occupied for prison purposes, escapes could be prevented without the construction of a high wall; that there would be no abutting owners or neighbors whose protests or actions would be annoying or injurious to the administration; that the temperature is more equable than in the region of Boston, being from eight to ten degrees warmer in the winter, and about as much cooler in the summer; and that there would shortly be an opportunity to produce a large part of the supplies needed for subsistence.

I offer for your consideration the suggestion that if this island were thus acquired it might furnish a ready solution of the question now pending before the General Court as to the disposition of the few lepers within the borders of Massachusetts. Upon one point of the island that projects into Buzzard's Bay a sufficient lot of land could easily be separated from the other parts of the island by a strong barrier, and be devoted to the leper hospital. This hospital would then be situated more than a mile from the nearest buildings used for prison purposes, and could be so guarded and secluded as to avoid all apprehension on the score of communication.

I have learned that this island can be bought for a reasonable price, and it might be worth while to consider the acquisition of it at the present time for the purpose of securing a place for the leper hospital. If the island is taken now, the leper hospital can be immediately constructed and made ready for occupancy this year, and there would always be on hand a suitable site for a state prison whenever it seemed desirable to make the removal, or the new establishment could be erected without an addition to the debt.

A further proposition that is worthy of consideration is that until sufficient funds to complete the prison are available, there might be provided in the new situation suitable buildings for the accommodation of such a number of convicts as it would be necessary to remove from Charlestown to bring the population within the normal capacity of the prison.

I earnestly commend this subject to your careful consideration, and I strongly recommend the adoption of the plan herein suggested.

WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS.

Messages from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor:—

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, April 24, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:—

Veto, — Bill to incorporate the Massachusetts Casualty Company.

I return herewith with my objections in writing, an act entitled "An Act to Incorporate the Massachusetts Casualty Company."

This act gives to certain men named therein the right to incorporate as a casualty company with the privilege of transacting business under both the 4th and 5th clauses of section 29, chapter 118 of the Revised Laws, with only the amount of capital now required to do business under one of these clauses.

An act of this nature is in my judgment against the interests of the people of the Commonwealth. It is contrary to the provisions of our insurance laws, which divide insurance into certain classes and allow a corporation to do business in only one of the classes, and require it to have a capital of not less than $200,000 for such one class. The provisions of this act allow the corporation to do business under two classes with only the amount of capital now required to do business under one.

The policy of the insurance law of our Commonwealth should be respected. Its provisions are the carefully prepared results of years of experience and have received the approval of successive legislatures. Its safeguards are adopted for the protection not only of the policy holders, but for the public at large. That the protection of the public should be considered before dividends to the stockholders, cannot be doubted. The amount of the capital stock required of the incorporators for the purposes of transacting business has been a most useful safeguard for the public interests, assuring as it does not only the responsibility of the incorporators, but that the company will have sufficient capital to protect the public by commencing with a properly equipped business and by having sufficient resources to meet any losses which might occur. No company is doing a business within the Commonwealth under a special charter of this nature, and should any change be deemed necessary in our insurance law such change ought to apply to all alike.

In addition to being directly opposed to the long established policy of our State, this bill is particularly objectionable as special legislation. By its terms it grants a peculiar privilege to a favored few. It has long been the policy of our Commonwealth not only to protect the life and property of its citizens by laws framed with care for their protection, but it has been especially its policy to see that all men were treated equally, and that no group of men should be granted special privileges to do business under circumstances more favorable to them than to other citizens of the Commonwealth.

Feeling that this act seeks to violate the principles of our insurance laws, which have been created for the proper protection of the public, and that it is particularly objectionable in view of its attempt to give a special few privileges denied to the citizens at large, I return the same herewith without my approval.

WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS.

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor :—

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, April 26, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives :—

Message from the Governor,
— Improvement of Town river and Weymouth
Fore river.

By an Act of Congress, known as River and Harbor Bill, approved March 3, 1905, the following appropriations were made for the improvement of waterways lying within the city of Quincy and the town of Weymouth of this Commonwealth, in the following language :—

“Improving Town River, Massachusetts: Completing improvement, nine thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven dollars and forty-one cents.

“Improving Weymouth Fore River, Massachusetts, in accordance with the report submitted in House Document Numbered Thirty-Six, Fifty-eighth Congress, second session: Completing improvement, fifty-seven thousand five hundred dollars: provided, That no part of this sum shall be expended until the Secretary of War shall have received satisfactory assurance that the improvement of that portion of the Weymouth River which lies above the improvement herein mentioned, and of the Town River, except so much as is herein provided for, shall hereafter be maintained by the State of Massachusetts, or other agency, without expense to the Government of the United States.”

You will note that the expenditure of the sum of $57,500 for the dredging of a channel 300 feet wide and 18 feet deep in the Weymouth Fore River from the termination of the existing 18 foot channel of the Quincy Point bridge, a distance of about one mile, is conditional upon an assurance to be given to the Secretary of War that the improvement of that portion of the Weymouth Fore River which lies above the Quincy Point bridge, and of the Town River, shall hereafter be maintained by the State of Massachusetts, or other agency, without expense to the Government of the United States.

I am informed that by Chapter 440 of the Acts of 1903, the State made an appropriation of $25,000 for dredging the channel of the Weymouth Fore River, and a certain portion of the contemplated work has been completed, leaving a balance of this appropriation available amounting to $14,764.13. I am also informed that this sum will complete such improvements above the points of the work to be undertaken by the General Government as are necessary to take full advantage of these improvements.

The matter is referred for your consideration and such action as seems proper.

WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS.

The message was read; and the same was referred to the committee on Harbors and Public Lands, on motion of Mr. Hayes of Lowell, and sent up for concurrence. (House, No. 1195.)

“1. Wherein differ the rights, privileges and duties of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company in the matter of the purchase of the stocks or bonds of street railway corporations?

“2. Your honorable predecessor, in an opinion transmitted to the Senate and House of Representatives March 16, 1894, relating to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, said: ‘Acting with full knowledge of and acquiescence in the fact that the railroad company it incorporated had already received a similar charter from Connecticut, the Legislature of Massachusetts must be presumed to have conceded, by implication, the right to the consolidated corporation to have and exercise such powers as the State of Connecticut, acting upon matters within its exclusive jurisdiction, should grant to it by virtue of its sovereignty; and to reserve to itself the right to exercise exclusive control over the corporation only as to such matters as should be within its exclusive jurisdiction.' Do you concur with these views, and in that case do you or do you not think that the direct or indirect acquisition of all or part of the stock of a Massachusetts street railway corporation by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company falls within the jurisdiction of Massachusetts to an extent sufficient to make it illegal in view of the following provision of law? R. L., ch. 111, sec. 77: 'No railroad corporation, unless authorized by the General Court or the provisions of the following five sections, shall directly or indirectly subscribe for, take or hold the stock or bonds of or guarantee the bonds or dividends of any other corporation;' etc. If such acquisition is in your opinion illegal, what is the penalty and how may it be enforced?

"3. R. L., ch. 111, sec. 72, says: 'If a railroad corporation which owns a railroad in this Commonwealth and is consolidated with a corporation in another state which owns a railroad therein increases its capital stock or the capital stock of such consolidated corporation, except as authorized by this chapter, without authority of the General Court, or without such authority extends its line of road, or consolidates with any other corporation, or makes a stock dividend, the charter and franchise of such corporation shall be subject to forfeiture.' Your honorable predecessor, in the opinion before quoted, commenting on this provision, said: 'The law amounts to nothing more than a declaration of the policy of the State, and it does not pretend to prohibit, much less to make unlawful, the acts of a consolidated corporation done in another state, and under the lawful authority of the legislature of that state.' Assuming this to be the case as far as relates to acts of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company done in Connecticut under the lawful authority of the legislature of that state, what would be the bearing of the law on acts done in either Connecticut or Massachusetts for the purpose of acquiring control of a Massachusetts corporation, such, for instance, as an increase of capital stock to accomplish that purpose directly or indirectly?

"4. R. L., ch. 126, sec. 11, says in part: 'If a foreign corporation which owns or controls a majority of the capital stock of a domestic street railway corporation issues stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness based upon or secured by the property, franchise or stock of such domestic corporation, unless such issue is authorized by the law of this Commonwealth, the Supreme Judicial Court shall have jurisdiction in equity in its discretion to dissolve such domestic corporation. If it appears to the Attorney General that such issue has been made, he shall institute proceedings for such dissolution and for the proper disposition of the assets of such corporation.' It is currently reported that the Consolidated Railway Company of Connecticut, a foreign corporation, owns or controls a majority of the capital stock of one or more Massachusetts street railway companies. If such majority of the capital stock were held by Massachusetts trustees for the benefit of a foreign corporation, would that be tantamount to the 'control' meant by the law? Does the section establish clearly that it is the policy of Massachusetts not to permit such control unless it is authorized by law?

"Assuming such to be the policy of the Commonwealth, what, if any, change should be made in this section to carry that policy into full effect?"

The first inquiry is presented in the following form: "Wherein differ the rights, privileges and duties of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company in the matter of the purchase of the stock or bonds of street railway corporations?"

Addressing myself to the precise inquiry presented, and without assuming to modify it by my own interpretation of its intent, I must hold it to be an inquiry so broad in its scope as to involve an attempt on my part to define all the privileges and duties of the two corporations referred to in the matter of the purchase of the stock or bonds of street railway companies, wheresoever and in or under whatsoever jurisdiction, the inquiry or condition might arise. To enter upon such determination would be to transcend the scope and limitations of my official investigation or review, since I could not assume to pass upon either question except upon conditions assumed to be affected by the operation of the laws of this Commonwealth, which plainly must be limited by their territorial jurisdiction. I cannot presume to limit the inquiry within the bounds above suggested, and must therefore hold that the inquiry, as presented, lies beyond the field of my determination. I adopt this conclusion the more readily since a consideration of the further inquiries submitted to me may permit of my responding to the requirements of the honorable House of Representatives in as full a measure as may be within its contemplation.

In the second inquiry it is stated that my predecessor, Attorney-General Knowlton, in an opinion transmitted to the Senate and House of Representatives March 16, 1894, relating to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, said :

“ Acting with full knowledge and acquiescence in the fact that the railroad company it incorporated had already received a similar charter from Connecticut, the Legislature of Massachusetts must be presumed to have conceded, by implication, the right to the consolidated corporation to have and exercise such powers as the State of Connecticut, acting upon matters within its exclusive jurisdiction, should grant to it by virtue of its sovereignty ; and to reserve to itself the right to exercise exclusive control over the corporation only as to such matters as should be within its exclusive jurisdiction.”

To the inquiry, “ Do you concur with these views ? ” I have the honor to reply that I am in full concurrence with the views of my predecessor above cited.

The inquiry continues : “ Assuming such concurrence of opinion, do you or do you not think that the direct or indirect acquisition of all or part of the stock of a Massachusetts street railway corporation by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company falls within the jurisdiction of Massachusetts to an extent sufficient to make it illegal in view of the following provisions of law ? R. L., ch. 111, sec. 77 :

“ ‘ No railroad corporation, unless authorized by the General Court or by the provisions of the following five sections, shall directly or indirectly subscribe for, take or hold the stock or bonds of or guarantee the bonds or dividends of any other corporation ; and the amount of the bonds of one or more other corporations subscribed for and held by a railroad corporation, or guaranteed by it conformably to special authority of the General Court or the authority given in said sections, with the amount of its own bonds issued in conformity with sections sixty-three and sixty-four, shall not exceed at any time the amount of its capital stock actually paid in cash.’ ”

This inquiry seeks my opinion whether the acquisition of stock upon the hypothesis above stated is illegal. I am of opinion that it is illegal in that it comes within the effective range of the Massachusetts statute which you cite, since it is not a matter within the exclusive jurisdiction of the State of Connecticut to authorize the purchase of stock of a Massachusetts street railway corporation. If I am right in this conclusion, the Attorney-General of this Commonwealth may, by appropriate process, invoke the action of the courts looking either to the nullification or restraint of the prohibited transaction or to the forfeiture of the charter of the offending corporation in so far as the same exists by grant of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In the third inquiry Revised Laws, chapter 111, section 62, is cited :—

“ If a railroad corporation which owns a railroad in this Commonwealth and is consolidated with a corporation in another state which owns a railroad therein increases its capital stock or the capital stock of such consolidated corporation, except as authorized by this chapter, without authority of the General Court, or without such authority extends its line or road, or consolidates with any other corporation, or makes a stock dividend, the charter and franchise of such corporation shall be subject to forfeiture.”

And a portion of the opinion of my predecessor, Attorney General Knowlton, is quoted, as follows :—

“ The law amounts to nothing more than a declaration of the policy of the state, and it does not pretend to prohibit, much less to make unlawful, the acts of a consolidated corporation done in another state, and under the lawful authority of the legislature of that state, . . .”

I understand that the statement of facts presented in the order assumes that the opinion last quoted is applicable to acts of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company done in Connecticut under the lawful authority of the Legislature of that state ; and the inquiry is made, — “ What would be the bearing of the law or acts done in either Connecticut or Massachusetts for the purpose of acquiring control of a Massachusetts corporation, such, for instance, as an increase of capital stock to accomplish that purpose directly or indirectly ?”

I am of opinion that if such act under inquiry were done in the State of Connecticut by the corporation and by authority of the law of that State, but with the actual purpose of acquiring stock of a Massachusetts corporation in violation of the law of Massachusetts applicable to such transaction, the charter and franchise of the corporation, in so far as they existed by grant of the Legislature of Massachusetts, would thereby be made "subject to forfeiture." A fortiori would this conclusion be inevitable if the assumed act with the assumed purpose were done within the State of Massachusetts.

In the fourth inquiry Revised Laws, chapter 126, section 11, is cited:—

"If a foreign corporation which owns or controls a majority of the capital stock of a domestic street railway, gas light or electric light corporation issues stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness based upon or secured by the property, franchise or stock of such domestic corporation, unless such issue is authorized by the law of this Commonwealth, the supreme judicial court shall have jurisdiction in equity in its discretion to dissolve such domestic corporation. If it appears to the attorney-general that such issue has been made, he shall institute proceedings for such dissolution and for the proper disposition of the assets of such corporation. The provisions of this section shall not affect the right of foreign corporations, their officers or agents to issue stock and bonds in fulfillment of contracts existing on the fourteenth day of July in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-four."

And it is added: "It is currently reported that the Consolidated Railway Company of Connecticut, a foreign corporation, owns or controls a majority of the capital stock of one or more Massachusetts street railway companies."

I assume that it is intended that I shall accept, for the purpose of rendering my opinion, such statement of current report as establishing an existent fact. The inquiry then proceeds: "If such majority of the capital stock were held by Massachusetts trustees for the benefit of a foreign corporation, would that be tantamount to the control meant by the law?"

Confining my answer exactly to such assumed predicates, the accuracy of which I do not attempt to determine, I have the honor to advise the honorable House of Representatives that in my opinion such a state of facts would disclose the control intended by the phrase of the statute quoted.

I am further required to answer the specific question, "Does the section last cited establish clearly that it is the policy of Massachusetts not to permit such control unless it is authorized by law?" I entertain grave doubt whether it lies within my province to assume to state what the policy of Massachusetts is or may be upon any question which properly lies within the responsible discretion and declaration of the legislative branch of the government. I may, however, say without presumption that the policy, which appears to me to be reflected by existent legislation, declares that such control is not to be permitted unless authorized by law.

A further inquiry is propounded based upon an assumption as follows: "Assuming such to be the policy of the Commonwealth, what, if any, change should be made in this section to carry that policy into full effect?" If I correctly apprehend the tenor and intent of existing legislation, its policy is manifest, though its phrase is somewhat ambiguous; and if I may be permitted to proceed upon this assumption of my own, I think there does appear to be occasion for further legislation in this regard. In order to fully answer this inquiry and to render every assistance that any opinion of mine might contribute, I perhaps ought to add that it may be difficult if not impossible to attain the apparent end contemplated by the section of the statute last quoted, through a dissolution of the domestic corporation whose stock has been acquired in violation of the law, because of the difficulty in determining the precise import of the term "based upon" in the section cited, or the proof of a condition falling within its express intent, and legislation removing such doubt of construction or difficulty in proof may be advisable.

I have the honor to be,

Respectfully,

HERBERT PARKER,

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor :—

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, May 8, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives :—

On the twenty-seventh day of April, 1904, the Congress of the United States passed an act appropriating the sum of $1,611,740.85 to reimburse the State of Massachusetts for money paid to put troops in the field during the Civil War, and May 2, 1904, the Secretary drew a warrant therefor, payable to the Governor of Massachusetts, and delivered the same to John B. Cotton, of Washington, D. C.

Message from the Governor,
—contract
with John B.
Cotton.

Since then the officers of the Commonwealth and Mr. Cotton have been at variance about the possession of the warrant and the payment of the compensation reserved in the contract between the Commonwealth and himself.

The undisputed facts in substance are as follows :—

The late Governor Wolcott had under consideration in 1898 the advisability of employing an agent or attorney to prosecute the claims of the State against the United States for sums expended during the War of the Rebellion which had not been previously collected.

On Jan. 23, 1899, at the Governor's request, Mr. Cotton wrote a long letter, calling attention to the laws of the United States under which claims were due to the Commonwealth, and stating the grounds upon which a claim for interest on the State bonds issued in 1861-2 for a war loan might be recovered.

After interviews and correspondence between the Governor, Attorney-General and Mr. Cotton, the Executive Council on July 12, 1899, passed the following vote :—

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE,

It was voted: that the Attorney General be authorized to employ John B. Cotton of Washington, D. C., to represent this Commonwealth in the prosecution of certain claims for interest money paid by the Commonwealth for loans incurred to meet the expenses of raising troops for the War of the Rebellion. The compensation for such employment not to exceed ten per cent. of the amount collected.

The following members of the Council were present at the meeting:—W. M. Crane, N. F. Ryder, Geo. N. Swallow, Parley A. Russell, M. V. B. Jefferson, Chas. I. Quirk.

The Attorney-General, on July 15, 1899, wrote Mr. Cotton and enclosed the contract for his examination and signature. July 19, 1899, he wrote Governor Wolcott enclosing the contract signed by Mr. Cotton in duplicate, suggesting the execution thereof by His Excellency and affixing the seal of the Commonwealth; and July 26, 1899, he forwarded one copy of the contract duly executed by the Governor to Mr. Cotton. This completed the contract between the parties, a copy of which is as follows:—

Memorandum of an agreement and appointment made this eighteenth day of July, A.D. 1899, by and between the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, by Roger Wolcott, its Governor, on the one part, and John B. Cotton, of Washington, District of Columbia, on the other part:—

Witnesseth, whereas, Said Commonwealth of Massachusetts has a claim against the United States for "costs, charges and expenses properly incurred by said State for enrolling, subsisting, clothing, supplying, arming, equipping, paying and transporting its troops engaged in aiding to suppress the insurrection against the United States" between the years 1861 and 1865, both inclusive, under and by virtue of an act entitled "An Act to indemnify the States for Expenses incurred by them in Defence of the United States," approved July 27, 1861, and the resolution approved March 8, 1862, declaratory of the intent and meaning of the act aforesaid; and

Whereas, Said Commonwealth of Massachusetts is about to present to the Treasury Department of the United States its claim aforesaid;

Now, therefore, Said Roger Wolcott, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, for and in consideration that said John B. Cotton has agreed to present, prosecute and endeavor to recover before the Court of Claims, the Supreme Court of the United States, and the Treasury Department of the United States, said claim of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has appointed and does hereby appoint said John B. Cotton its agent and attorney to present, prosecute and recover the claims as aforesaid on the terms and conditions hereinafter specified.

Said John B. Cotton agrees to prepare, present, prosecute and endeavor to recover before said Court of Claims, the Supreme Court of the United States, and the Treasury Department of the United States, the claim aforesaid on behalf of said Commonwealth of Massachusetts at a compensation of ten per centum of the entire sum collected, payable only out of any sums that may be collected hereunder, and without any liability on behalf of said Commonwealth of Massachusetts for expenses incurred by said Cotton in the prosecution of said claim in bringing of petitions, taking depositions, employing of expert accountants, printing of records and briefs, fees of commissioners, costs of court or of any other expense of any kind or nature whatsoever, excepting only the clerical assistance hereinafter specified; and said John B. Cotton does further agree to make and present to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or the Attorney General or any other officer of said Commonwealth designated by the Governor, at the end of each six months, or oftener if thereto requested, a full report concerning the status and condition of said claim.

It is further understood and agreed that said John B. Cotton shall give prompt attention to the prosecution of said claim, and that he shall be furnished by the proper department of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts facilities and clerical assistance of department clerks for the examination of the books and records of said Commonwealth in relation to said claim, necessary and proper for making up, presentation and prosecution thereof.

In witness whereof, Said Roger Wolcott, Governor of said Commonwealth, and in behalf thereof, has hereunto set his hand, and caused the seal of said Commonwealth to be hereto affixed, and said John B. Cotton has hereunto set his hand and seal the day and year first above written.

Signed and sealed in duplicate in presence of

ROGER WOLCOTT,
Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

JOHN B. COTTON.

[SEAL OF THE COMMONWEALTH
OF MASSACHUSETTS.]

It will appear from the length of time that this matter was under discussion, and from a review of all the correspondence prior to the execution of the contract, that this contract was made only after the most careful and deliberate consideration, and that the authorized representatives of the Commonwealth, including senators and representatives in the Congress, regarded the employment of an agent or attorney to prosecute this claim as a wise and proper thing to do. I know of no reason to question the correctness of their judgment.

A question has been raised as to whether the contract was an authorized and valid contract. The Attorney General has expressed grave doubt as to the validity of the contract and its execution. He has doubts as to the authority of the Treasurer to pay the compensation reserved without a legislative resolve, whether the contract is legal or not.

It may be said, in favor of carrying out the contract and paying the compensation as stated, that the Governor and Council authorized the employment of Cotton, the Attorney General drew the contract and forwarded it to Mr. Cotton for signature and then to the Governor, the Governor signed it and the seal of the Commonwealth was affixed, the Attorney General forwarded a copy to Cotton, and Mr. Cotton filed a copy of it with the Treasury Department at Washington and thereupon entered upon the performance of his contract.

In due course of time he secured the finding of the Comptroller, and the Congress appropriated the money in accordance with the finding; the warrant was subsequently delivered to Mr. Cotton as agent or attorney of Massachusetts, in accordance with the long practice of the Department.

No one will question the fact that all the officers of the Commonwealth acted with the utmost good faith, and believed that they were making with Mr. Cotton an authorized and binding contract. It would now seem wise to waive any technicalities, if they exist, and conform to the terms of the employment, which was entered into deliberately and in good faith by both parties.

The Commonwealth is recovering by this appropriation the interest it paid on its bonds issued in 1861 and 1862 for the benefit of the United States. The coupons on these bonds might have been paid in paper currency. But every six months the Commonwealth bought gold and paid its creditors in the same currency which they loaned to the Commonwealth. That was not necessary, but His Excellency Governor Andrew thought good faith required it, and the State has received well-deserved praise for its action. I submit to you whether it is not wise to deal with this contract in a similar spirit.

The letters and papers are all accessible. If it seems wise, all doubt may be removed as to the legality of the contract or the authority of the Treasurer to pay the compensation mentioned therein, and long and vexatious litigation may be ended by the passage of a resolve in substance like the one attached hereto.

I earnestly suggest the passage of such a resolution.

WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS.

Resolved, That the contract dated July 18, 1899, between the Commonwealth and John B. Cotton, be ratified and confirmed, and the Governor, with the consent of the Council, be authorized to pay the compensation therein named; and that the sum of $161,174.08 be and hereby is appropriated therefor, the same to be taken from any moneys that may be received into the Treasury of the Commonwealth from the United States by virtue of the appropriation of Congress April 27, 1904. But in no event shall there be paid to said Cotton more than ten per centum of the amount actually received into the Treasury of the Commonwealth for said appropriation.

Town of
town meeting.

The engrossed Bill to authorize the town of Natick to erect a municipal building and to borrow money therefor (see House, No. 1249) came down with the endorsement that, having been returned to the Senate by His Excellency the Governor with his objections thereto in writing, it had been passed, notwithstanding the said objections, two-thirds of the Senate having agreed to pass the same.

Town of
municipal building.

The objections of His Excellency were as follows:—

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, May 19, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I return herewith, with my objections in writing, an Act entitled "An Act to Authorize the Town of Natick to Erect a Municipal Building and to Borrow Money therefor."

Veto message from the Governor.

This bill is special legislation. It authorizes the town of Natick to borrow money outside of the limit of indebtedness fixed by the general law of the State. This law is a wise one, and should be disregarded only in cases of most urgent necessity. The interests of our taxpayers, of our producers, and of the Commonwealth as a whole, demand that public indebtedness be restricted and that the tax rate be kept as low as possible. Such a law inspires confidence and tends to induce capitalists to invest in this State. If exceptions to it are made frequently and on slight pretences, capital will feel insecure and will be withdrawn from the State to the great injury of our industries and of all our citizens.

While there may be great need of a municipal building in Natick, it does not appear to me that the need is sufficiently urgent to warrant a violation of one of our best general laws.

For the reasons then that this bill is special legislation, that it impairs the general law limiting the indebtedness of cities and towns, and that it allows a town to incur a debt outside of the statutory limit without sufficient reason therefor, I return it without my approval.

WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS.

The objections (Senate, No. 366) were read, and the question "Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" was determined by yeas and nays, as required by the Constitution; and the roll having been called the bill was passed, in concurrence, two-thirds of the members present having voted in the affirmative, and it was returned to the Senate endorsed accordingly.

The vote was 148 yeas to 19 nays, as follows:—

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor : —

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, May 24, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:—

Veto.—Bill to authorize the payment of money to certain veterans of the civil war.

I return herewith an act entitled “An Act to Authorize the Payment of Money to Certain Veterans of the Civil War.”

The bill seeks to authorize the payment by the Commonwealth to every veteran of the civil war who served to the credit of Massachusetts, living at the passage of the act, and who was not a conscript or substitute, the sum of $125, excepting those who received a bounty. This payment is to be met by the use of a sum not to exceed $350,000.

Bounties were paid to certain soldiers of the civil war at the time of their enlistment, some by the State, and some by certain cities and towns. The number of veterans who are now living who would be entitled to a bounty under the provisions of this act it is impossible to ascertain. The cities and towns paid bounties to certain men who enlisted, but the records of such payments are in many instances incomplete and unreliable.

This act would attempt to impose on the State an unascertained liability. An investigation based on such facts as can be obtained, however, indicates very clearly that the amount appropriated, $350,000, would be entirely inadequate to carry out the intent of the act, and that the amount required would be several times the sum provided for.

This bill is similar to chapter 458 of the Acts of the year 1904. On July 20, 1904, the Governor and Council passed an order requesting the opinion of the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court upon certain questions relative to that act, one of which was its constitutionality. On September 21, 1904, the Justices returned an answer to this request, which may be found in Vol. 186 of Massachusetts Reports, page 601, stating that the expenditure of money proposed in that act was for a use which was not public but private, and that therefore the statute was not in conformity with the constitution of the Commonwealth.

The act herein returned bore so close a resemblance to the previous act of 1904 that it was deemed wise by the Senate to request the opinion of the Attorney-General, and in pursuance of that request the Attorney-General advised the Senate on May 15, 1905, that the act which is now before me is open to the objections of the act of 1904 and is unconstitutional.

The provisions of this act are designated as unconstitutional by the legal adviser of the Commonwealth, on an opinion sustained and based on several decisions of our Supreme Court.

The authority of the Governor is measured by the constitution. He is chosen to do what it permits and nothing more, and has taken solemn oath to obey and support it. Should he disregard its provisions, he would usurp his authority, abuse his trust and violate the promise which he made to the people, confirmed by his oath of office. To sign an act which is shown to be in violation of the principles of the constitution is to treat as of no force the most imperative obligations any person can assume.

I therefore return this act, as I deem it unsatisfactory by its provisions, as it imposes an unascertained liability on the Commonwealth, and that the money which the act seeks to appropriate would be insufficient to carry out its intent, but especially in view of what I feel to be my duty on account of my advice that it is unconstitutional.

WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS.

The message (House, No. 1286) was read; and, pending the question "Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" the further consideration thereof was postponed until to-morrow, on motion of Mr. Schofield of Ipswich.

“Section 6. The said trustees of the Danvers Insane Hospital shall compensate the said town of Danvers for all water supplied by said town to said hospital from December first, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, to the date of the passage of this act at one hundred and sixty-two thousand and five hundred gallons per day, at the said rate of six and one quarter cents per thousand gallons, and payment of the same with accrued interest thereon, when accepted by said town or by its duly authorized agents, shall be in full satisfaction of all claims of said town for water supplied as aforesaid. Such payment shall be made from the Danvers Insane Hospital Fund.”

The rule was suspended, on motion of Mr. Wheeler of Concord, and after debate the House concurred in the amendment, and the bill was returned to the Senate endorsed accordingly.

The engrossed Bill to authorize the city of New Bedford to incur certain indebtedness beyond the limit fixed by law, and to issue bonds, notes or scrip therefor (see Senate, No. 312, amended) came down with the endorsement that, having been returned to the Senate by His Excellency the Governor with his objections thereto in writing, it had been passed, notwithstanding the said objections, two-thirds of the Senators present having agreed to pass the same.

The objections of His Excellency were as follows : —

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, May 23, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives : —

Veto message
from the Governor.

I return herewith, with my objections in writing, an act entitled “ An Act to authorize the city of New Bedford to incur certain indebtedness beyond the limit fixed by law, and to issue bonds, notes or scrip therefor.”

This is a special act, and is contrary to the general law of the Commonwealth, which wisely limits the indebtedness of cities. This general law has long been upon our statute books, and was designed to prevent cities from accumulating indebtedness burdensome to the taxpayers. Exceptions from the provisions of this general law should be permitted only when some urgent public necessity demands it.

The bill returned herewith asks permission to incur indebtedness to the extent of three hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars beyond the limit fixed by law.

In my opinion if the debt limit of cities and towns is to be extended, it should be by a general law, rather than by special legislation.

This bill is objectionable because it is special legislation, and is in direct opposition to the long established general law of the Commonwealth. Therefore I return the bill without my signature.

WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS.

The objections (Senate, No. 371) were read, and the question “ Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?” was determined by yeas and nays, as required by the Constitution ; and the roll having been called the bill failed to pass and notice was sent to the Senate.

Reconsideration.

Soldiers and sailors, — payment of money to certain veterans.

Mr. Schofield of Ipswich moved to reconsider the vote whereby the House, at the morning session, refused to pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor, the engrossed Bill to provide for the payment of money to certain veterans of the civil war (see House, No. 992).

Point of order.

Mr. Davis of Plymouth raised the point of order that the motion to reconsider was not properly before the House, for the reason that the Constitution of the Commonwealth directs a certain method for taking the vote in considering the veto of the Governor; that such method has been once followed in this matter, and that a reconsideration is not in order; that the provisions of the Constitution are paramount to any rules of the House; that, even under the rules of the House, the original vote on passing the bill over the Governor's veto was a reconsideration; and that this matter, having been reconsidered once, is not open to a further reconsideration.

The Speaker stated that the same question had been ruled upon by a former Speaker of the House (Mr. Speaker Sanford), who held that it is permissible to reconsider a vote refusing to pass a bill over the Executive veto, notwithstanding that the first vote is described in the Constitution as a reconsideration of the bill. The Speaker stated further that he saw no reason to depart from that precedent, and therefore declared the point of order not well taken.

The motion to reconsider was adopted, and the recurring question "Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of His Excellency the Governor?" was determined by yeas and nays; and the roll having been called, the bill was passed, two-thirds of the members present having voted in the affirmative, and was sent to the Senate.

The vote was 136 yeas to 60 nays, as follows:—

Resolutions.

Mr. Vinal of Somerville being in the chair, Mr. Stevens of Somerville offered the following resolution :—

Resolved, That the House of Representatives elected for the year nineteen hundred and five hereby records its appreciation of the fairness and ability with which its Speaker, the Honorable Louis A. Frothingham, has presided over its deliberations. It is largely owing to his zeal that the present session of the General Court has been able to finish its business and to adjourn at the earliest date of any session for twenty-four years. The duties of his office have been discharged with complete indifference to all personal or political considerations, and with a firmness tempered by that courtesy and kindly sense of humor which have made every member, of whatever party or persuasion, his friend and well-wisher.

Resolution of thanks to the Speaker.

The resolution was read ; and, after remarks by Messrs. Taft of Worcester, Schofield of Ipswich and Lowell of Newton, was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The Speaker then addressed the House as follows :—

MR. SPEAKER AND FELLOW REPRESENTATIVES :— If I may be allowed, contrary to my own rule, to address you directly, and I presume that I may on an occasion like this, I only trust that some of you here may be as embarrassed as I am on this occasion, after listening, perforce, to the kind and complimentary words, both of your resolution and as spoken from the floor by members of both parties. I assure you that I can take little compliment to myself for the success of this session, and there is no danger of my doing so, because, as I said when we convened here, a Speaker is absolutely powerless without the good-will and hearty backing and co-operation of the members of this body ; and that co-operation I have had to an extraordinary degree from each and every one of you, and I shall never forget the uniform kindness and the courtesy that have been shown me day after day while presiding over the deliberations of this representative body.

The session has been an unusually successful one. We have had our contests, and bitter contests. Complete harmony would be impossible. We have had with it that strenuous fighting and vitality without which it is impossible to accomplish anything that is worth while ; but through it all you have remained the best of friends, and after the fighting was over the friendships between the antagonists increased, rather than diminished. The session has been a successful one because of this harmony, and because of the high way in which the questions that have come before this House have been handled by you all. We have had important matters before us here : the gas question, which at one time bade fair to shake the walls of this chamber ; the railway and railroad merger bill, so called ; the militia bill, adapting the law of this State to the law of the United States ; various bills providing for taking land by eminent domain ; the Cambridge subway bill, and many other important matters, which were decided by this body in an upright, impartial and efficient manner worthy of this assembly, representing the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In the year 1881 the Legislature met on the 5th of January and adjourned on May 13. The following year, in 1882, it was convened on the 4th of January, as we were this year, and was prorogued on the 27th of May, a session of 144 days, a record which we better this year by one day, making a length of session which has not been excelled for twenty-four years. If this had been accomplished by hasty and ill-advised legislation it would hardly be worth your while to be proud of it ; but it has been accomplished by hard work, by beginning early in the session with the business, and by thoughtful and efficient work here day by day. Not even has it been necessary to hold evening sessions, which were quite customary in the past.

The shortness of the session has been due to various reasons : in part, possibly, to the more equal division of matters between the various committees; in part to the more equal distribution by committees of their reports between the two branches; in part to the fact that fewer matters were before us this year, owing, to some extent, to the refusal in very many cases to suspend the 12th joint rule; in part to the fact that a rule was adopted this year limiting still further the time for the introduction of new business; to a great extent to the fact that matters have not been, as in years past, put upon the table; to the greatest extent to the fact of the promptness and diligence with which committees undertook hearings and deliberations upon bills as soon as they reached the jurisdiction of the committee room. Never before in my experience have I seen such diligence and application in the early hours of the session as have taken place this year. Never before have I, day by day, stood at that desk and looked at the calendar and seen not a single matter for discussion placed upon the table.

This last day of the session is inevitably a sad one in a great many ways, for it means that many of us are to part company. It means that many new faces will appear here another year, that new blood will take the place of those who leave us. I wish from the bottom of my heart that we might, one and all, be returning here, and that I might look forward to sitting here with each one of you again next year; but such a thing will be impossible, and this day, on that account, has an atmosphere of sadness surrounding it.

We have had sad moments during the session. One of our members was taken away from us, but the heartfelt resolutions which you unanimously adopted showed how the feelings of the members of this House went out on account of that bereavement.

Our guest, once an officer in the Confederate army and twice an officer in the armies of the United States, was taken to another world after leaving this hall, and we were unable again to greet, as we had expected, that high-minded, courteous and splendid type of American citizen, Fitzhugh Lee.

I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation to the efficient Clerk of this body, to the Chaplain and the Sergeant-at-Arms, who have worked so hard and diligently for our good and our comfort during this session; to the reporters who have looked down in judgment upon us; and to all the efficient officers of this body.

The most disagreeable part of the duties of the presiding officer is during the few weeks preceding the session, when committees have to be made up. I had wished that this year I might not have a similar task imposed upon me at the end of the session, but apparently it is to be otherwise; and that fact also adds a touch of sadness to this day, as far as I am concerned.

I venture to state — and I have seen a number of parliamentary bodies — that none surpass this one for the dignity of its deliberations. This may be due, in part, as was said by the gentleman from Ipswich (Mr. Schofield), to the great lack of party spirit here, the parties, as in many other bodies, not sitting in separate divisions; but it is due also to the high prestige, history and traditions which we have to look back upon here in Massachusetts, and which would make us ashamed of any such proceedings as would lead to giving this body an undignified name.

As I stand here before representative men, coming from all parts of this State, it is a pride and a pleasure to be reckoned as one of you, and a particular pride to me to have been privileged by you to preside over your deliberations during the past session. As I look at your beautiful gift, and shall look at it constantly in the future, it will remind me of the many friendships made here during the session, — friendships which I trust will last throughout a lifetime; and for that reason I shall prize it, as it keeps the time day after day wherever I may be.

In closing, let me say that this session has been one which you and the State may be proud of, one which you, in bidding farewell to these walls, may look back upon as being a session during which you have done your duty well and thoroughly; and I sincerely thank you, one and all, for your kind and hearty greetings, and wish you all the best of success in your future life.

Mr. Thorburn of Marblehead offered the following resolution : —

Adjournment.

On motion of Mr. Warren of Newton the order requiring the Speaker to declare the House adjourned at twenty minutes before five o'clock was suspended.

Adjournment.

Joint Special Committee.

Joint special committee, — laws pertaining to railroad and street railway corporations.

The order providing for the appointment of a joint special committee, to sit during the recess of the General Court, to revise, consolidate and arrange the general laws of the Commonwealth pertaining to railroad and street railway corporations, came down with the endorsement that the President (in accordance with the instructions of the Senate) and Messrs. Cummings, Munroe and Peters had been appointed to serve on the part of the Senate.

The Speaker joined on the part of the House Messrs. Taft of Worcester, Hayes of Lowell, Pingree of Haverhill, Cole of Andover, Schofield of Ipswich, Lowell of Newton, Davis of Plymouth, Andrews of Holyoke, Peabody of Cambridge, Ames of Orange and Mooney of Boston, and the order was returned to the Senate endorsed accordingly.

Prorogation.

Prorogation.

The following order was adopted, in concurrence : —

Ordered, That a committee, to consist of three on the part of the Senate, and such members as the House may join, be appointed to wait upon His Excellency the Governor and inform him that the two branches of the General Court have disposed of all the public business which has been brought before them, and to request him, with the advice and consent of the Council, to prorogue them to the Tuesday next preceding the first Wednesday of January next.

Messrs. Reed, Burns and Mellen having been appointed on the part of the Senate, Messrs. Ward of Buckland, Power of Boston, Allen of Brockton, Potter of Worcester, Williams of Attleborough, Cutler of Somerville and O'Connell of Fitchburg were joined on the part of the House.

Subsequently Mr. Ward, for the committee, reported that they had waited upon His Excellency the Governor and informed him of the action of the two branches ; and that His Excellency congratulated the members on the early completion of their labors, and stated that he would communicate further with the two houses through the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

At twelve minutes past six o'clock the Secretary of the Commonwealth came in, and stated that during the session the Chief Executive had signed 479 bills and 108 resolves, and that he had returned 4 bills with his objections thereto in writing.

The Secretary further stated that he had been directed by His Excellency the Governor, in compliance with the request of the two branches, and with the advice of the Council, to prorogue the General Court to the Tuesday next preceding the first Wednesday of January next.

And the General Court was prorogued accordingly.

MEMBERS.

16. No member shall stand up, to the inconvenience of others, while a member is speaking; or pass unnecessarily between the Speaker of the House and the member speaking; or stand in the passages, or in the area in front of the chair; or stand at the Clerk's desk while a roll-call is in progress.

[Amended Feb. 2, 1891.]

17. No member shall be absent more than two days, without leave of the House. No member shall absent himself from the House without leave, unless there be a quorum without his presence. When it appears to the presiding officer that the presence of a quorum is endangered he shall order the doors to be closed until the House takes action thereon. (11.)

[Amended Feb. 2, 1891.]

18. Papers in possession of a member obtaining leave of absence, or at the end of the session, shall be left by him with the Clerk.

19. If a member is guilty of a breach of any of the rules, he may be required by the House, on motion, to make satisfaction therefor; and, until he has done so, he shall not be allowed to vote or speak, except by way of excuse.

[See Rule 10.]

COMMITTEES.

20. At the beginning of the political year, standing committees shall be appointed as follows: — (12.)

A committee on Rules;

(to consist of the Speaker, who shall be chairman of the committee, and ten other members).

A committee on Ways and Means;

A committee on the Judiciary;

(to consist of eleven members each).

A committee on Elections;

(to consist of seven members).

A committee on Bills in the Third Reading;

A committee on Engrossed Bills;

A committee on Pay Roll;

(to consist of three members each).

[Amended Feb. 2, 1891; Jan. 2, 1896; Jan. 11, 1897; Jan. 10, 1898; Jan. 7, 1901.]

21. Unless other provision is made in any case all committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, and the member first named shall be chairman. (13.)

22. In case of the election of a committee by ballot, the member having the highest number of votes shall be chairman. (13.)

23. No member shall be required to be on more than two committees at the same time, or chairman of more than one.

24. No member shall serve on any committee in any question where his private right is immediately concerned, distinct from the public interest. (10.)

25. The committee on Ways and Means shall report, in appropriation bills, only such items of expenditure as are authorized by law, or such as the committee has been directed by the House to insert, and shall state in its report the total amount of appropriations in the accompanying bill; and also at the end of each item in said bill the amount, if any, appropriated the previous year for the same purpose.

[Amended Feb. 2, 1891; Jan. 2, 1896.]

26. The committee on Bills in the Third Reading shall examine and correct the bills which are referred to it, for the purpose of avoiding repetitions and unconstitutional provisions, insuring accuracy in the text and references, and consistency with the language of existing statutes: provided, that any change in the sense or legal effect, or any material change in construction, shall be reported to the House as an amendment. (33.)

[Amended Jan. 15, 1880.]

27. The committee on Engrossed Bills shall carefully examine and compare engrossed bills, and report them rightly and truly engrossed, when found to be so, without delay. (34.)

28. All resolutions, bills and resolves for introduction on leave, intended for presentation by any member of the House, and all reports of State officers, shall first be deposited with the Clerk, and prior to their presentation shall be submitted by him to the Speaker for his examination; and not later than the fourth legislative day succeeding the day of their deposit with the Clerk, the Speaker shall, before the orders of the day are considered, present the same to the House, when they, in the case of resolutions, bills and resolves, shall be read, and shall by the Speaker with the consent of the House be referred to the appropriate committee; and all such resolutions, bills and resolves shall be printed under the direction of the Clerk. They shall retain their original provided numbers when reprinted, together with new numbers thereafter, during all subsequent stages. All petitions asking for legislation shall, if accompanied by a bill or resolve embodying the subject-matter prayed for, be referred with such bill or resolve as provided above. The same disposition shall be made of petitions and remonstrances referring to matters previously sent to a committee. Petitions not so accompanied shall be retained in the custody of the Clerk until a bill or resolve embodying the legislation prayed for shall be filed with him, when he shall present the same to the Speaker, to be disposed of as provided above. The House may at any time by order make any other disposition of petitions and remonstrances in the hands of the Clerk. (20.)

[Adopted Jan. 13, 1893; amended Jan. 11, 1894; March 30, 1894; March 14, 1899.]

29. Any petition remaining in the hands of the Clerk subsequent to five o'clock in the afternoon on the third Saturday of the session, for the reason that no bill or resolve embodying the legislation prayed for has been presented, shall be forthwith submitted by him to the Speaker, and by him, at the legislative session next succeeding, be referred to the next General Court. This rule shall not be rescinded or revoked or suspended except by a vote of four-fifths of the members present and voting thereon. (22.)

[Adopted Jan. 13, 1893; amended Jan. 11, 1894; Jan. 10, 1898; Feb. 21, 1905.]

30. When the object of an application can be secured without a special act under existing laws, or, without detriment to the public interests, by a general law, the committee to which the matter is referred shall report such general law, or leave to withdraw, or ought not to pass, as the case may be. (16.)

[Amended Jan. 15, 1880; Jan. 13, 1893.]

31. No legislation affecting the rights of individuals or the rights of a private or municipal corporation, otherwise than as it affects generally the people of the whole Commonwealth or the people of the city or town to which it specifically applies, shall be proposed or introduced except upon a petition; nor shall any bill or resolve embodying such legislation be reported by a committee except upon a petition duly referred; nor shall such a bill or resolve be reported by a committee, whether on an original reference or on a recommittal with instructions to hear the parties, until it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the committee that proper notice of the proposed legislation has been given, by public advertisement or otherwise, to all parties interested, without expense to the Commonwealth, or until evidence satisfactory to the committee is produced that all parties interested have in writing waived notice. A committee reporting leave to withdraw or reference to the next General Court, for want of proper notice or of a waiver thereof, shall set forth this fact in its report, and no bill or resolve shall be in order as a substitute for or amendment of such report. Objection to the violation of this rule may be taken at any stage prior to that of the third reading. (15.)

[Adopted Feb. 11, 1890; amended Jan. 13, 1893.]

32. A petition for the incorporation of a town or city, or for the division of an existing town or city, or for the incorporation of a railroad, street railway, elevated railroad or canal company, or for the amendment, alteration, or extension of the charter or corporate powers or privileges of any such company, either specially incorporated or organized under general laws, or for authority to take water for a water supply, or relative to building structures over navigable or tide waters, shall be referred to the next General Court, and not to a committee, unless the petitioner has given the notice required by chapter 3 of the Revised Laws or by other provisions of law; a petition for the incorporation of a college or university or other educational institution, with power to grant degrees, or for an amendment of the charter of an existing educational institution, so that the said institution not having such power shall thereafter have power to grant degrees, shall also be referred to the next General Court, and not to a committee, unless the petitioner has given the notice required by chapter

3 of the Revised Laws; but if, no objection being raised, any such petition is referred to a committee without such required notice, the committee shall forthwith report reference to the next General Court, setting forth as the reason for such report failure to give the required notice, unless evidence satisfactory to the committee is produced that all parties interested have in writing waived notice. In case a bill or resolve is reported by a committee upon such petition, after proof of such waiver of notice, this fact shall be set forth in the report of the committee. When a report of reference to the next General Court is made by a committee, on account of failure to give the required notice, no bill or resolve shall be substituted for such report, nor shall such report be recommitted or referred to another committee; but reference of the petition to the next General Court for want of proper notice under this rule shall not affect action upon any other measure involving the same subject-matter. (25.)

33. On or before the second Wednesday in March, committees shall make final report upon matters referred to them prior to that day.

[Amended Feb. 15, 1883; Feb. 2, 1891; Jan. 25, 1894.]

Committee of the Whole.

34. When the House determines to go into a committee of the whole, the chairman shall be appointed by the Speaker.

35. The rules of the House shall be observed in a committee of the whole, so far as they may be applicable, except the rules limiting debate. A motion to rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again, shall be always first in order and be decided without debate.

REGULAR COURSE OF PROCEEDINGS.

Petitions, etc., and Reports of Committees.

36. Petitions, memorials, remonstrances and papers of a like nature, and reports of committees, shall be presented before the House proceeds to the consideration of the Orders of the Day, and the Speaker shall call for such papers.

37. The member presenting a petition, memorial, or remonstrance, shall endorse his name thereon, with a brief statement of the nature and object of the paper; and the reading thereof shall be dispensed with, unless specially ordered. (18.)

Papers from the Senate.

38. Papers from the Senate shall be laid before the House by the Speaker, and received for action conformably to such of these rules as are applicable thereto, before the House proceeds to the consideration of the Orders of the Day.

Papers addressed to the House, not Petitions.

39. Papers addressed to the House, or the General Court, other than petitions, memorials and remonstrances, or those received from the Senate, may be presented by the Speaker, or by a member in his place, and shall be read, unless it is specially ordered that the reading be dispensed with.

Motions contemplating Legislation, etc.

40. All motions contemplating legislation shall be founded upon petition or upon bill or resolve proposed to be introduced on leave.

The committee on Ways and Means may originate and report appropriation bills based upon existing law. Messages from the Governor shall, unless otherwise ordered, be referred to the appropriate committee, which may report by bill or otherwise thereon. A similar disposition shall, unless otherwise ordered, be made of reports by State officers and recess committees authorized to report to the Legislature, and similar action may be had thereon. (19.)

[Amended Jan. 13, 1893; Jan. 2, 1896.]

Postponement to the Next Day on Request of a Member.

41. The consideration of an order proposed for adoption, except as provided in joint rule twenty-eight or House rule one hundred and four, or of any request for leave to introduce a bill, or any motion to suspend joint rules eight or thirteen, or House rules thirty-one, forty-five or forty-six, shall be postponed without question to the day after that on which the order is proposed or request or motion made, if any member asks such postponement. (24.)

[Amended June 13, 1890; Jan. 13, 1893; March 14, 1899.]

Bills and Resolves. [See Rule 95.]

42. Bills shall be printed or written in a legible hand, without material erasure or interlineation, on not less than one sheet of paper, with suitable margins and spaces between the several sections, dates and numbers being written in words at length. Bills amending existing laws shall not provide for striking words from, or inserting words in, such laws, unless such course is best calculated to show clearly the subject and nature of the amendment. No repealed law, and no part of any repealed law, shall be re-enacted by reference merely. (17.)

[Amended Jan. 15, 1880; Feb. 2, 1891.]

43. If a committee to whom a bill is referred report that the same ought not to pass, the question shall be, "Shall this bill be rejected?" If the question on rejection is negatived, the bill, if it has been read but once, shall go to a second reading without question; otherwise it shall be placed in the orders for the next day, pending the question on ordering to a third reading, or engrossment, as the case may be. (30.)

[Amended Jan. 10, 1883.]

44. Bills involving an expenditure of public money, or grant of public property, unless the subject-matter has been acted upon by the joint committee on Ways and Means, shall, after their first reading, be referred to the committee on Ways and Means, for report on their relation to the finances of the Commonwealth. New provisions shall not be added to such bills by the committee on Ways and Means, unless directly connected with the financial features thereof. Bills involving an expenditure of county money shall, after their first reading, be referred to the committee on Counties on the part of the House, for report on their relation to the finances of the county affected, unless the subject-matter thereof has been previously acted upon by the joint committee on Counties; and no new provisions shall be added to such bills by the committee on Counties on the part of the House unless directly connected with the financial features thereof. (27.)

[Amended Jan. 24, 1887; Feb. 11, 1890; Jan. 25, 1895; Jan. 29, 1895; Jan. 2, 1896; Jan. 27, 1896; Jan. 10, 1898.]

45. Bills from the Senate, after their first reading, shall be referred to a committee of the House, unless they were reported to the Senate by a joint committee. (26.)

46. Amendments proposed by the Senate and sent back to the House for concurrence shall be referred to the committee which reported the measure proposed to be amended, unless such committee is composed of members of both branches; in which case such amendments shall be placed in the Orders of the Day for the next day. (36.)

[Amended April 9, 1878.]

47. No bill shall be proposed or introduced unless received from the Senate, reported by a committee, or moved as an amendment to the report of a committee: provided, that the House may grant special leave to a member to introduce a bill; but, when leave is asked for the introduction of a bill, it shall be read for information before the question is put on granting leave; and, if leave is granted, it shall be committed before it is ordered to a second reading. (23.)

48. Bills, resolves and other papers that have been, or, under the rules or usage of the House, are to be printed, shall be read by their titles only, unless the full reading is requested. (29.)

[Adopted Jan. 10, 1883.]

49. When a bill, order, petition, memorial or remonstrance has been finally rejected by the House, no measure substantially the same shall be introduced by any committee or member during the same session. (54.)

[Amended April 26, 1877; Feb. 11, 1890.]

50. Bills in their third reading shall be referred to the committee on Bills in the Third Reading for examination, correction and report. Resolutions received from and adopted by the Senate, or reported in the House, shall, after they are read and before they are adopted, be referred in like manner to the committee on Bills in the Third Reading. When a bill or resolution has been so referred, such bill or resolution shall not be acted upon until report thereon has been made by the committee. (33.)

[Amended Jan. 10, 1898.]

[See Rule 26.]

51. No bill shall pass to be engrossed without having been read on three several days. (28.)

52. Engrossed bills shall be referred to the committee on Engrossed Bills for examination, comparison and report. (34.)

[See Rule 27.]

53. No engrossed bill shall be amended except by striking out the enacting clause. (34.) (49.)

[Amended Feb. 2, 1891.]

54. Engrossed bills, reported by the committee on Engrossed Bills, to be rightly and truly engrossed, shall be put upon their passage to be enacted; and engrossed resolves, when so reported, shall be put upon their passage without further reading, unless specially ordered. (34.)

55. No engrossed bill shall be sent to the Senate without notice thereof being given by the Speaker.

Orders of the Day.

56. Bills from the Senate, after their first reading, when not referred to a committee of the House, bills favorably reported to the House by committees, and bills the question of the rejection of which is negatived, shall be placed in the orders for the next day, and, if they have been read but once, shall go to a second reading without question. Resolutions received from and adopted by the Senate, or reported in the House by committees, shall, after they are read, be placed in the orders of the day for the next day. (26.)

[Amended Jan. 10, 1883; Feb. 5, 1886; Jan. 10, 1896.]

57. Reports of committees not by bill or resolve shall be placed in the orders of the next day after that on which they are received from the Senate, or made to the House, as the case may be: provided, that the report of a committee asking to be discharged from the further consideration of a subject, and recommending that it be referred to another committee, shall be immediately considered and shall not be subject to the provisions of rule fifteen. (36.)

[Amended Jan. 15, 1880; Feb. 2, 1891.]

58. Bills ordered to a third reading shall be placed in the orders of the next day for such reading. (32.) (33.)

[Amended Feb. 2, 1891; Jan. 10, 1896.]

59. After entering upon the consideration of the Orders of the Day, the House shall proceed with them in regular course as follows: Matters not giving rise to a motion or debate shall first be disposed of in the order in which they stand in the calendar; after which the matters that were passed over shall be considered in like order and disposed of. (37.)

60. When the House does not finish the consideration of the Orders of the Day, those which had not been acted upon shall be the orders of the next and each succeeding day until disposed of, and shall be entered in the calendar, without change in their order, to precede matters added under rules fifty-six, fifty-seven and fifty-eight. The unfinished business in which the House was engaged at the time of adjournment shall have the preference in the orders of the next day, after motions to reconsider. (35.)

[Amended Jan. 13, 1893.]

Special Rules affecting the Course of Proceedings.

[For postponement of Order, etc., to the next day, on request of a member, see Rule 41.]

61. No matter which has been duly placed in the Orders of the Day shall be discharged therefrom, or considered out of the regular course. This rule shall not be rescinded or revoked or suspended except by a vote of four-fifths of the members present and voting thereon. (38.)

[Amended Jan. 10, 1895.]

62. If, under the operation of the previous question, or otherwise, an amendment is made at the second or third reading of a bill substantially changing the greater part of such bill, the question shall not be put forthwith on ordering the bill to a third reading or to be engrossed (as the case may be), but the bill, as amended, shall be placed in the orders for the next day after that on which the amendment is made, and shall then be open to further amendment before such question is put. In like manner, when, under the operation of the previous question or otherwise, an amendment is made in any proposition of such a nature as to change its character, as from a bill to an order, or the like, the proposition as amended shall be placed in the orders of the next day after that on which the amendment was made. (31.)

VOTING.

63. No member shall vote upon any question where his private right is immediately concerned, distinct from the public interest. (10.)

64. Members desiring to be excused from voting shall make application to that effect before the division of the House or the taking of the yeas and nays is begun. Such application may be accompanied by a brief statement of reasons by the member making it, but shall be decided without debate, and shall not be subject to the provisions of rule sixty-eight. (57.)

[Amended Jan. 8, 1877; Feb. 5, 1886; Jan. 13, 1893.]

65. When a question is put, the sense of the House shall be taken by the voices of the members, and the Speaker shall first announce the vote as it appears to him by the sound. (55.)

66. If the Speaker is unable to decide by the sound of the voices, or if his announcement made thereupon is doubted by a member rising in his place for that purpose, the Speaker shall order a return by divisions of the number voting in the affirmative and in the negative, without further debate upon the question. (55.)

[For duty of monitors in case of a division, see Rule 9.]

67. When a return by divisions is ordered, the members for or against the question, when called on by the Speaker, shall rise in their places, and stand until they are counted. If upon the taking of such a vote the presence of a quorum is doubted, a count of the House shall be had, and if a quorum is present the vote shall stand.

[Amended Feb. 11, 1889.]

68. The sense of the House shall be taken by yeas and nays whenever required by thirty of the members present. When the yeas and nays are taken, the roll of the House shall be called in alphabetical order, and no member shall be allowed to vote who was not on the floor before the vote is declared. If, before the question is taken, a member states to the House that he has paired with another member, and how each would vote upon the pending question, the fact shall be entered on the journal immediately after the record of the yeas and nays, and such members shall be excused from voting, but shall be included with the members voting for the purposes of a quorum. (56.) (57.)

[Amended Jan. 4, 1878; April 2, 1878; April 1, 1879; Feb. 2, 1891; Jan. 10, 1895.]

69. The call for the yeas and nays shall be decided without debate. If the yeas and nays have been ordered before the question is put, the proceedings under rules sixty-five, sixty-six and sixty-seven shall be omitted; if not, they may be called for in lieu of a return by divisions when the Speaker's announcement is doubted by a member rising in his place, and, if then ordered, the proceedings under rules sixty-six and sixty-seven shall be omitted. (52.)

[Amended Jan. 13, 1893.]

Reconsideration.

70. No motion to reconsider a vote shall be entertained unless it is made on the same day on which the vote was passed, or before the orders of the day have been taken up on the next day thereafter on which a quorum is present. If reconsideration is moved on the same day, the motion shall (except during the last week of the session) be placed first in the orders of the day for the succeeding day; but, if it is moved on the succeeding day, the motion shall be considered forthwith: provided, however, that this rule shall not prevent the reconsideration of a vote on a subsidiary, incidental or dependent question at any time when the main question to which it relates is under consideration; and provided, further, that a motion to reconsider a vote on any subsidiary, incidental or dependent question shall not remove the main subject under consideration from before the House, but shall be considered at the time when it is made. (53.)

[Amended June 13, 1890; Feb. 2, 1891; Feb. 7, 1902.]

71. When a motion for reconsideration is decided, that decision shall not be reconsidered, and no question shall be twice reconsidered; nor shall any vote be reconsidered upon either of the following motions:—

to adjourn,
to lay on the table,
to take from the table; or,
for the previous question. (53.)

72. Debate on motions to reconsider shall be limited to thirty minutes, and no member shall occupy more than five minutes; but on a motion to reconsider a vote upon any subsidiary or incidental question, debate shall be limited to ten minutes, and no member shall occupy more than three minutes.

[Amended Feb. 5, 1886; June 13, 1890.]

[For rule requiring the Clerk to retain papers, except, etc., until the right of reconsideration has expired, see Rule 15.]

RULES OF DEBATE.

73. Every member, when about to speak, shall rise and respectfully address the Speaker; shall confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personalities; and shall sit down when he has finished. No member shall speak out of his place without leave of the Speaker. (39.)

74. When two or more members rise at the same time the Speaker shall name the member entitled to the floor, preferring one who rises in his place to one who does not. (40.)

75. No member shall interrupt another while speaking, except by rising to call to order. (42.)

76. No member shall speak more than once to the prevention of those who have not spoken and desire to speak on the same question. (41.)

Motions.

77. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker so directs. (44.)

78. A motion need not be seconded, and may be withdrawn by the mover if no objection is made. (44.)

Limit of Debate.

79. A motion to adjourn shall be always first in order, and shall be decided without debate; and on the motions to lay on the table, to take from the table, for the previous question, to close debate at a specified time, to postpone to a time certain, to commit or recommit, not exceeding ten minutes shall be allowed for debate, and no member shall speak more than three minutes. (52.)

[Amended Feb. 19, 1878; Jan. 26, 1880; Feb. 2, 1891; March 14, 1899.]

[For application to be excused from voting, to be decided without debate, see Rule 64.]

[For call for yeas and nays, to be decided without debate, see Rule 69.]

[For questions of order, arising after the previous question is moved, to be decided without debate, except on appeal, see Rule 83.]

80. When a question is before the House, until it is disposed of, the Speaker shall receive no motion that does not relate to the same, except the motion to adjourn, or some other motion that has precedence either by express rule of the House, or because it is privileged in its nature; and he shall receive no motion relating to the same, except, — to lay on the table,	See Rule 79.

for the previous question,	See Rules 79, 81-86.
to close the debate at a specified time,	See Rules 79, 85, 86.
to postpone to a time certain,	See Rules 79 and 87.
to commit (or recommit),	See Rules 79 and 88.
to amend,	See Rules 89-92.
to refer to the next General Court, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged in this rule. (46.)
[Amended Jan. 14, 1892.]

Previous Question.

81. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the main question be now put?"—and all debate upon the main question shall be suspended until the previous question is decided.

82. On the previous question debate shall be allowed only to give reasons why the main question should not be put.
[Amended March 14, 1899.]

83. All questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question shall be decided without debate, excepting on appeal; and on such appeal, no member shall speak more than once without leave of the House.
[See Rule 94.]

84. The adoption of the previous question shall put an end to all debate except as provided in rule eighty-six, and bring the House to a direct vote upon pending amendments, if any, in their regular order, and then upon the main question.
[Amended Jan. 14, 1892; Jan. 13, 1893.]

Motion to Close Debate at a Specified Time.

85. Debate may be closed at any time not less than thirty minutes from the adoption of a motion to that effect. In case the time is extended by unanimous consent, the same rule shall apply at the end of the extended time as at the time originally fixed. (47.)

[Amended Jan. 8, 1877; Jan. 15, 1880; March 14, 1899.]
[See the next rule.]

When Debate is closed, Ten Minutes allowed, etc.

86. When debate is closed by ordering the previous question, or by a vote to close debate at a specified time, the member in charge of the measure under consideration shall be allowed to speak ten minutes, and may grant to any other member any portion of his time. When the measure under consideration has been referred to the committee on Ways and Means, under House rule forty-four, the member originally reporting it shall be considered in charge, except where the report of the committee on Ways and Means is substantially different from that referred to them, in which case the member originally reporting the measure, and the member of the committee on Ways and Means reporting thereon, shall each be allowed to speak five minutes, the latter to have the close. When the member entitled to speak under this rule is absent, the member standing first in order upon the committee reporting the measure, who is present and joined in the report, shall have the right to occupy such time.

[Amended March 28, 1877; Feb. 11, 1890; Jan. 13, 1893; Jan. 2, 1896.]

Motion to Postpone to a Time Certain.

87. When a motion is made to postpone to a time certain, and different times are proposed, the question shall first be taken on the most remote time; and the time shall be determined before the question is put on postponement, which may then be rejected if the House see fit. (51.)

Motion to Commit.

88. When a motion is made to commit, and different committees are proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order: —

- a standing committee of the House,
- a select committee of the House,
- a joint standing committee,
- a joint select committee;

and a subject may be recommitted to the same committee or to another committee at the pleasure of the House. (48.)

Motions to Amend.

89. A motion to amend an amendment may be received; but no amendment in the third degree shall be allowed.

90. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment. (50.)

91. A question containing two or more propositions capable of division shall be divided whenever desired by any member. When a motion to strike out and insert is thus divided, the failure of the motion to strike out shall not preclude amendment; or, if the motion to strike out prevails, the matter proposed to be inserted shall be open to amendment before the question is taken on inserting it. (45.)

92. In filling blanks, the largest sum and longest time shall be put first. (51.)

Enacting Clause.

93. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall only be received when the bill is before the House for enactment.

[Amended June 13, 1890.]

APPEAL.

94. No appeal from the decision of the Speaker shall be entertained unless it is seconded; and no other business shall be in order until the question on the appeal has been disposed of.

[See Rule 83.]

RESOLVES.

95. Each to consist of four members on the part of the Senate, and eleven on the part of the House.

Matters referred by either the Senate or the House to its committee on the Judiciary, on Ways and Means, or on Rules shall be considered by the respective committees of the two branches, acting as joint committees, when, in the judgment of the chairmen of the respective committees of the two branches, the interests of legislation or the expedition of business will be better served by such joint consideration. Matters may also be referred respectively to the committees on the Judiciary, on Ways and Means, and on Rules, of the two branches, as joint committees.

The committees on Rules, together with the presiding officers of the two branches, acting as a joint committee, may consider and suggest such measures as shall, in their judgment, tend to facilitate the business of the session. [Amended Jan. 6, 1882; Jan. 5, 1883; Jan. 7, 1884; Jan. 8, 1885; Jan. 26, 1885; Jan. 8, 1886; Jan. 12, 1887; Jan. 9, 1888; Jan. 28, 1889; Jan. 8, 1890; Feb. 2, 1891; Jan. 11, 1892; Feb. 10, 1892; Feb. 7, 1893; Jan. 8, 1894; Jan. 7, 1895; Jan. 7, 1896; Jan. 11, 1897; Jan. 10, 1898; Jan. 9, 1899; Jan. 22 and Jan. 29, 1901; Jan. 6, 1902; Jan. 9, 1903; Jan. 8, 1904; and Jan. 6, 1905.]

2. No member of either branch shall act as counsel for any party before any committee of the Legislature.

3. No committee of the Senate or the House shall travel unless authorized by a vote of two-thirds of the members of its branch present and voting. No joint committee shall travel unless authorized by a concurrent vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch present and voting. No committee shall travel except at the expense of the Commonwealth. In any case when a committee is authorized to travel, the Sergeant-at-Arms shall provide transportation only for members of the committee and the officer accompanying them, and the reasonable travelling expenses of such members and officers only shall be charged to or paid by the Commonwealth. Neither the Sergeant-at-Arms nor the officer detailed by him shall permit any person to accompany such committee while in the discharge of its official duties unless invited by vote of the committee.

All bills for the travelling expenses of committees shall, in such form and detail as may be prescribed by the Auditor of the Commonwealth, be submitted by the Sergeant-at-Arms to the committee by whom they have been incurred; and such bills, before they are presented to the Auditor of the Commonwealth, shall first be approved by a majority of the committee incurring them. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall procure from the Auditor and shall, on the first Monday in each month, transmit to the General Court in print a statement of all such bills which have been presented to the Auditor during the preceding month. [Adopted Feb. 7, 1890. Amended Feb. 2, 1891, and Jan. 20, 1904.]

4. Joint committees may report by bill, resolve, or otherwise, to either branch, at their discretion, having reference to an equal distribution of business between the two branches, except that money bills shall be reported to the House; and except that when a report is made from any committee to either branch, and the subject-matter thereof is subsequently referred therein to a joint committee, such committee shall report its action to the branch in which the original report was made. [See also next rule.]

5. Reports of joint committees may be recommitted to the same committees at the pleasure of the branch first acting thereon, and bills or resolves may be recommitted in either branch, but no such recommitment shall be made after the fourth Wednesday in March. A concurrent vote shall, however, be necessary for the recommitment of such reports, bills, or resolves, with instructions. After recommitment, report shall, in all cases, be made to the branch originating the recommitment. [Amended Feb. 2, 1891.]

6. Bills and resolves reported by joint committees shall be printed or fairly written in a legible hand, without material erasure or interlineation, and on not less than one sheet of paper, with suitable margins, and with spaces between the several sections. Dates and numbers shall be printed or written in words at length. [Amended Jan. 28, 1889.]

7. Whenever, upon any application for an act of incorporation or other legislation, the purpose for which such legislation is sought can be secured without detriment to the public interests by a general law or under existing laws, the committee to which the matter is referred shall report such general law, or "leave to withdraw," or "ought not to pass." [Amended Feb. 2, 1891, and Feb. 7, 1893.]

Notice to Parties Interested.

8. No legislation affecting the rights of individuals or the rights of a private or municipal corporation, otherwise than as it affects generally the people of the whole Commonwealth or the people of the city or town to which it specifically applies, shall be proposed or introduced except by a petition, nor shall any bill or resolve embodying such legislation be reported by a committee except upon a petition duly referred, nor shall such a bill or resolve be reported by a committee, whether on an original reference or on a recommittal with instructions to hear the parties, until it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the committee that proper notice of the proposed legislation has been given by public advertisement or otherwise to all parties interested, without expense to the Commonwealth, or until evidence satisfactory to the committee is produced that all parties interested have in writing waived notice. A committee reporting leave to withdraw or reference to the next General Court for want of proper notice or of a waiver thereof shall set forth this fact in its report, and no bill or resolve shall be in order as a substitute for, or amendment of, such report. Objection to the violation of this rule may be taken at any stage prior to that of the third reading. [Adopted Feb. 7, 1890.]

9. A petition for the incorporation of a town or city, or for the division of an existing town or city, or for the incorporation of a railroad, street railway, elevated railroad or canal company, or for the amendment, alteration or extension of the charter or corporate powers or privileges of any such company, either specially incorporated or organized under general laws, or for authority to take water for a water supply, or relative to building structures over navigable or tide waters, shall be referred to the next General Court, and not to a committee, unless the petitioner has given the notice required by chapter 3 of the Revised Laws, or by other provisions of law. A petition for the incorporation of a college or university or other educational institution, with power to grant degrees, or for an amendment of the charter of an existing educational institution so that the said institution, not having such power, shall thereafter have power to grant degrees, shall also be referred to the next General Court, and not to a committee, unless the petitioner has given the notice required by chapter 3 of the Revised Laws. But if, no objection being raised, any such petition is referred to a committee without such required notice, the committee shall forthwith report reference to the next General Court, setting forth as the reason for such report failure to give the required notice, unless evidence satisfactory to the committee is produced that all parties interested have in writing waived notice. In case a bill or resolve is reported by a committee upon such a petition, after proof of such waiver of notice, this fact shall be set forth in the report of the committee. When a report of reference to the next General Court is made by a committee on account of failure to give the required notice, no bill or resolve shall be substituted for such report, nor shall such report be recommitted or referred to another committee; but reference of the petition to the next General Court for want of proper notice under this rule shall not affect action upon any other measure involving the same subject-matter. [Adopted Feb. 7, 1890. Amended Feb. 2, 1891; Feb. 3, 1898; and Jan. 16, 1903.]

Limit of Time Allowed for Reports of Committees.

10. Joint committees shall make final report upon all matters previously referred to them, on or before the second Wednesday in March; but, except as provided in Rule No. 29, the time within which they are required to report upon such matters may be extended, by concurrent vote, until a day not later than the second Wednesday in April. When the time within which such joint committees are required to report has expired, all matters upon which no report has then been made shall, within three legislative days thereafter, be reported by the chairman of the committee on the part of the branch in which they were respectively introduced, with a recommendation of reference to the next General Court under this rule. This rule shall not be rescinded, amended or suspended, except by a concurrent vote of four-fifths of the members of each branch present and voting thereon. [Amended Feb. 2, 1891; Jan. 25, 1894; Jan. 16, 1903; and Jan. 20, 1904.]

Committees of Conference.

11. Committees of conference shall consist of three members on the part of each branch, representing its vote; and their report, if agreed to by a majority of each committee, shall be made to the branch asking the conference, and may be either accepted or rejected, but no other action shall be had, except through a new committee of conference.

Limit of Time Allowed for New Business.

12. Resolutions, and petitions, memorials, bills and resolves introduced on leave, and all other subjects of legislation, except reports required to be made to the Legislature, deposited with the Clerk of either branch subsequently to five o'clock in the afternoon on the third Saturday of the session, shall, when presented, be referred to the next General Court; but this rule shall not apply to petitions in aid of, and remonstrances against, legislation already introduced and pending; nor shall it apply to a petition offered in place of a former one having in view the same object, upon which, before reference to a committee, leave to withdraw was given because the same was not in proper form, provided that such subsequent petition is deposited with the Clerk of either branch within one week from the day on which leave to withdraw was given; nor shall it apply to a bill or resolve introduced on leave or to a resolution presented subsequently to five o'clock in the afternoon on the third Saturday of the session, when such bill, resolve or resolution is based upon the report of a joint committee which has been made in compliance with instructions to report facts or to investigate, provided the said bill, resolve or resolution is introduced within one week after the committee's report is submitted. This rule shall not be rescinded, amended or suspended, except by a concurrent vote of four-fifths of the members of each branch present and voting thereon: provided, however, that, except by unanimous consent, it shall not be suspended with reference to a petition for legislation when such petition is not accompanied by a bill or a resolve embodying the legislation requested. [Amended Feb. 7, 1890; Feb. 2, 1891; Feb. 7, 1893; Jan. 10, 1898; Jan. 9, 1899; Feb. 15, 1901; and May 4, 1904.]

Petitions and memorials, accompanied by bills or resolves embodying the subject-matter prayed for, bills and resolves for introduction on leave, and all other subjects of legislation, and all resolutions and orders of inquiry, intended for presentation to the General Court by any member, shall be deposited with the Clerk of the branch to which such member belongs, and shall be laid before such branch not later than at the session of the fourth legislative day succeeding the day on which the same have been so deposited. [Adopted Feb. 7, 1890. Amended Feb. 2, 1891; Feb. 7, 1893; and Jan. 25, 1894.]

14. The joint committee on Rules shall have authority to prescribe the manner and form of keeping the dockets of legislative counsel and agents which are required by law. [Adopted Feb. 2, 1891.]

Duties of the Clerks.

15. If any part of the report of a committee over the signature of the chairman or members of the committee is amended in either branch, the Clerk of that branch shall endorse upon the report such amendment.

16. All papers, while on their passage between the two branches, may be under the signature of the respective Clerks, except bills and resolves in their last stage. Messages may be sent by such persons as each branch may direct.

17. After bills have passed both branches to be engrossed, they shall be in the charge of the Clerks of the two branches, who shall deliver the same to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, to be engrossed in the manner prescribed by law; and when engrossed the said Clerks shall forthwith deliver the same to the committee of the House of Representatives on Engrossed Bills; and when the same have passed to be enacted in that House, they shall, in like manner, be delivered to the committee of the Senate on Engrossed Bills.

Under the general order to print a report, bill or other document, the number printed shall be nine hundred.

Leave to report in print shall not be construed to authorize the printing of extended reports of evidence.

Bills, reports and other documents, printed under the general order of either branch, shall be distributed as follows, to wit: two copies to each member of the Senate and House of Representatives (to be placed on his file under the direction of the Sergeant-at-Arms, if desired by the member); three copies to each Clerk in either branch, and three copies to each reporter in regular attendance, to whom a seat has been assigned in either branch; twenty copies to the Executive; twenty copies to the Secretary's office; six copies to the State Library; one copy to each Public Library in the Commonwealth, which shall make due application therefor to the Sergeant-at-Arms, and shall make proper provision for the transmission and preservation thereof; and, when the document is the report of a committee, ten copies shall be assigned to the committee making the report. Joint Elections.

26. In all elections by joint ballot a time shall be assigned therefor at least one day previous to such election.

Elections of United States Senators.

27. The joint assembly required to be held by the statutes of the United States, relating to the elections for Senators in Congress, shall be deemed a Convention of the two branches, and the proceedings therein shall be in accordance with the provisions of said statutes. The President of the Convention shall receive no motion on any day until one vote for Senator has been taken. After one vote for Senator has been taken, no motion shall be in order except a motion to adjourn, for a recess, or to proceed to vote for Senator; and these motions shall have precedence in the order of their arrangement, and shall be decided without debate. If a motion is made for a recess, and different times are proposed, the question shall first be taken on the most remote time; and the time shall be determined, but without debate, before the question is put upon taking the recess. On either of the questions permitted by this rule, the sense of the Convention shall be taken by yeas and nays whenever required by one-fifth of the members present. When the yeas and nays are taken, the roll of the Convention shall be called in alphabetical order; and no member shall be allowed to vote who was not on the floor when his name was called or before the roll-call was finished. The call for the yeas and nays shall be decided without debate.

28. All motions or orders authorizing joint committees to travel or to employ stenographers and all propositions involving special investigations by joint committees shall be referred without debate to the joint committee on Rules, who, within fourteen days after such reference, shall report thereon, recommending what action should be taken. [Adopted Jan. 10, 1898. Amended Jan. 20, 1904.]

29. All motions or orders extending, beyond the second Wednesday in April, the time within which joint committees are required to report shall be referred without debate to the joint committee on Rules. No such extension beyond that time shall be granted, against the recommendation of the joint committee on Rules, except by a four-fifths vote of the members of each branch present and voting thereon. This rule shall not be rescinded, amended or suspended, except by a concurrent vote of four-fifths of the members of each branch present and voting thereon. [Adopted Jan. 16, 1903.]

30. A member of either branch who directly or indirectly solicits for himself or others any position or office within the gift or control of a railroad corporation, street railway company, gas or electric light company, telegraph or telephone company, aqueduct or water company, or other public service corporation, shall be subject to suspension therefor, or to such other penalty as the branch of which he is a member may see fit to impose. [Adopted May 22, 1902.]

31. Any joint rule except the tenth, twelfth and twenty-ninth may be altered, suspended or rescinded by a concurrent vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch present and voting thereon. [Amended Feb. 7, 1893. Adopted in revised form Jan. 9, 1899. Amended Jan. 16, 1903.]
